50 MEXICAN BANDITS HOLD UP 200 PEOPLE

OCCURS ON ROAD NEAR CAPITAL CITY OF MEXICO

THIEVES ESCAPE AFTER STRIP-
PING VICTIMS OF MONEY AND JEWELS

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR MOR-
ROW NARROWLY AVOIDED
BEING IN HOLD-UP

By G. F. FINE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Mexico City, March 26.—Despite a diligent search through the mountainous regions, no trace had been found today of the 50 bandits who held up 200 persons on the Puebla highway and escaped after stripping them of money and jewels.

American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow narrowly avoided being in the hold-up. He passed the scene a few hours before the robbery and later drove by in time to see soldiers chasing the bandits.

Arthur Ruhl, American newspaper correspondent, also narrowly avoided being in the hold-up. One woman, believed to be an American, was among the victims.

The hold-up occurred at a turn on the Puebla road about 27 miles from the capital. The bandits apparently were after the payroll of the national highway commission, which carried approximately 100,000 pesos. They attacked the pay car, but the five guards fought off the bandits. An assistant paymaster was injured and one of the guards was shot by the bandits.

None of the 200 hold-up victims was injured.

The bandits stripped the 200 persons of their jewels and took all the belongings in the tourists' motor cars. All the loot was placed in big bundles and carried back into the hills.

LOCKED IN BOXCAR 5 DAYS WITHOUT FOOD OR DRINK

St. Paul, March 26.—(U.P.)—Locked in a boxcar for five days without food or drink, Roy Smith, 56, strolled out of that car when it was opened today and declared today that he was just a little bit hungry.

Smith, tired of Minneapolis, decided last Wednesday evening to walk to St. Paul. At the Western Fruit Co. switchyards, he decided to rest so crawled into the car and went to sleep.

During the time Smith slept an inspector sealed the car door.

Smith was taken to the city hospital to recuperate.

AIRPLANE CARRIER KNOCKS OVER FIVE CANAL LIGHT TOWERS

Barboa, Canal Zone, March 26.—(U.P.)—Five concrete light towers at the north end of the Gatun lock and one at Pedro Miguel were knocked over when the airplane carrier Lexington went through the Panama canal. The ship's great overhang struck the towers when the vessel listed slightly.

No one was injured. The Lexington completed its trip safely and is waiting here.

INJURED WHEN COMMERCIAL PLANE TAKES A FALL

Chicago, March 26.—(U.P.)—Sidney Sheridan, 25, was injured probably fatally when a commercial airplane in which he was making his first flight as a passenger fell 200 feet and crashed alongside a crowded highway here yesterday.

Scores of panic-stricken motorists deserted their cars and ran to safety as the plane crashed two feet from the highway.

LOST HIS JOB, KILLS WIFE, 3 CHILDREN AND HIMSELF

Lowden, Iowa, March 26.—(U.P.)—Forced out of his job as postmaster here, Lambert Meyer, 30, shot and killed his wife and their three children and then committed suicide at his home here today.

Relatives said Meyer had been despondent following notification from the postoffice officials that he must relinquish his job.

The dead children are: Alice, 7; Jean, 3, and a baby girl.

CHECKS FOR FIRST DIVIDEND FIRST STATE BANK OF IRONTON

St. Paul, March 26.—(U.P.)—Checks for the first dividend since closing of the First State Bank of Ironton, Crow Wing county, were mailed to depositors today by A. J. Veigel, state banking commissioner. The checks are for 20 per cent of the deposits in the bank when it closed Dec. 1, 1926, and total $15,820.

WEAPON FOUND MAY HAVE BEEN OWNED BY DE SOTO

HILT, GUARD AND THE RUSTED
BLADE OF WHITE MAN'S SWORD

ARCHAEOLOGIST VIEWS FIND
NEAR CARTER'S QUARTERS,
GEORGIA

Carter's Quarters, Ga., March 26.—(U.P.)—In an Indian chieftain burial mound—along the route that Hernando De Soto took nearly 400 years ago—has been found the hilt, guard and rusted iron blade of a white man's sword.

That it was the weapon of a Spaniard—either De Soto himself, one of his followers, or a contemporary explorer—is the opinion of its finder, the archaeologist, Dr. Warren K. Moorehead.

The relic was found Saturday, beside the right arm of a skeleton, believed that of some famous Indian chief. Beads, pottery and arrowheads in profusion surrounded the skeleton.

The hilt and guard were uppermost. Projecting downward into the soil was the rusted iron blade.

On the fifth day of June, 1540, De Soto and his men, according to Old Spanish diaries, arrived at the rich Indian village of Chichua, which Moorehead claims was but 30 miles distant from the mound explored on Saturday. This he considered gave added credence to his opinion that the owner of the blade was in the De Soto party.

From Chichua, De Soto turned westward—across what is now Alabama and Mississippi, pushing on until he reached the "Father of Waters"—there to die.

Legend has it that De Soto was lured into an extended stay in the north Georgia hills by the wives and beauty of a cream-skinned Indian maid.

Dr. Moorehead said it was possible the sword had not been taken in battle but was the gift of the Spaniard to the Indian chief, in whose burial place it was found.

The archaeologist has carefully packed his find and will send it to Andover Academy, Andover, Massachusetts, where he is professor.

CASHIER PLEADS GUILTY TO FORGERY

Fairmont, Minn., March 26.—(U.P.)—Alex C. Gray, cashier of the defunct Granada State Bank, pleaded guilty today to a charge of second degree forgery. His trial on the charge was half over when he unexpectedly entered the plea. He immediately was sentenced to an indeterminate term not to exceed ten years in the Stillwater penitentiary.

ONLY SMALL VOTE AT WILLISTON, N. D.

Williston, N. D., March 26.—(U.P.)—Only 12 per cent of Williston's regular voters were interested enough in the presidential primary election last week to cast their ballots, a check of the registration lists revealed today. Two hundred and nine votes were cast in the primary.

LIVES OF 180 FOXES THREATENED BY FIRE AT TURTLE LAKE

St. Paul, March 26.—(U.P.)—The lives of 180 foxes valued at $100,000 were threatened when fire destroyed the cook house and watch tower of the National Fox and Fur company's farm at Turtle Lake, near here. Cause of the fire is undetermined. Loss was placed at $3,000.

Baldonnell Airdrome, Dublin, Mar. 26.—Completing the first stage of a westward trans-Atlantic flight to New York, the Junkers monoplane Brema, carrying three Germans, landed here shortly after 4:32 P. M. (11:32 A. M., E. S. T.) today.

The 800-mile journey from Berlin, whence they started secretly this morning, was completed in a little more than nine hours.

They started secretly from Berlin at 8:08 A. M.

If the weather is favorable, it was understood here, the German aviators would start for Mitchell Field, L. I., at dawn Tuesday.

The plane was piloted by Captain Hermann Koehl, with Arthur Spindler, 37, former sergeant-major in Koehl's bombing squadron, and Baron Von Huenefeld, friend of the former crown prince, as passengers.

Both will accompany Koehl on the westward trans-Atlantic venture.

Although their destination was unknown in Berlin until hours after the start, Baldonnell officials had made the field ready both for the Bremen's landing and its departure on the journey to "Mitchell Field or heaven."

The monoplane made a beautiful landing. It circled down a cheer went up for the fliers.

Captain Fitzmaurice of the Free State Royal Air Force, flying a Moth airplane, sighted the Bremen off Dublin and escorted the German machine to Baldonnell.

The plane circled the field about 15 minutes before landing.

Its distinguishing marks—"D1167"—on the wings and "Junkers Berlin" on the fuselage—were easily visible.

All preparations here have been completed for the trans-Atlantic flight. This morning the ground was levelled and rolled to make possible a perfect take-off. Gasoline and other airplane supplies have been brought to the field.

The Bremen is the same machine in which Koehl, Huenefeld and Capt. Frederick August Loose flew from Berlin to the south coast of Ireland last August in what they hoped would be a trans-Atlantic flight. They turned back, however, because of strong head winds.

Berlin, March 26.—Three Germans started from Berlin this morning for Baldonnell airdrome, Ireland, on the first section of a westward trans-Atlantic flight to New York.

In the Junkers airplane Bremen which started at 8:08 A. M. from Tempelhof airdrome in utmost secrecy were Hermann Koehl, pilot; Arthur Spindler, 37, former sergeant-major in Koehl's bombing squadron and Herr Von Huenefeld, friend of the former crown prince.

They were expected to arrive at Dublin, where Baldonnell airdrome is located, at 5 P. M. (noon eastern standard time).

Not even Tempelhof officials, usually precise in the matter of detail, knew of the flight until three hours after the plane had started west.

It was at first thought that Fritz August Loose, another well known pilot, had accompanied Koehl and Von Huenefeld.

So secret was the start of the flight that it was hours before the fliers' destination was revealed. Knowledge that officials at Baldonnell airdrome had made preparations for the Bremen's reception, and Mrs. Koehl's statement to the United Press that her husband was headed for Baldonnell, were the first indications that they actually had departed for Ireland and, hopefully, New York.

SIX FARMERS OFFER BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS TO SAVE NEIGHBOR

When it became known in East Bay Lake township that Walter Pfalzgraff, farmer there, was seriously ill at the St. Joseph's hospital and blood transfusions would be necessary, six neighboring farmers yesterday offered to give blood transfusions.

Two of the six were in the same blood grouping with the sick man and willingly consented to give the transfusions. Mr. Pfalzgraff received his second blood transfusion this afternoon.

MRS. COOLIDGE'S MOTHER REPORTED TO BE DYING

MRS. LEMIRA GOODHUE STRICK-
EN AT NORTHAMPTON,
MASS.

THIRD TIME IN FEW MONTHS
MRS. COOLIDGE SUMMONED
TO HER BEDSIDE

Washington, March 26.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Coolidge received word today that her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, is in a dying condition at Northampton, Mass. The first lady prepared to leave at 2 P. M. for Mrs. Goodhue's bedside.

It will be the third time in a few months that Mrs. Coolidge has visited her mother since the latter was taken ill.

Northampton, Mass., March 26.—Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, 78, mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, has suffered another relapse and is reported to be in a critical condition.

Mrs. Goodhue who has been in Dickson hospital several months as a result of influenza, was in a "very serious" condition last night, and although she showed slight improvement this morning, physicians were keeping a close watch over her.

Dr. Justin Hayes, the attending physician, described Mrs. Goodhue's condition as "very poor" when he left the hospital at 11 A. M.

"Mrs. Goodhue is a very sick woman and her present condition is extremely critical," the doctor said.

Mrs. Coolidge was expected in Northampton late tonight for her third visit to her mother's bedside.

MRS. NINA BANG ONCE OF DANISH CABINET, DIES

62-YEAR-OLD WOMAN SERVED
AS MINISTER OF EDU-CATION

HELD PORTFOLIO IN THE SOCIAL
DEMOCRAT GOVERNMENT
1924-1926

Copenhagen, March 26.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Nina Bang, 62, the only woman ever to be a member of the Danish cabinet, died Sunday. She was minister of education in the socialist-democratic government between 1924 and 1926.

Nina Bang was born in Copenhagen in October, 1866. At the age of 28 she obtained a degree in history and a year later was married to Dr. Gustav Bang, writer on economics. He died 13 years ago.

Mrs. Bang became a member of the socialist party in her youth and took an interest in governmental affairs. From 1913 to 1917 she was a member of the Copenhagen city council. A year later she was elected to the senate, and in 1924 was appointed minister of education. She held that office until December, 1926 when the Stauning cabinet resigned.

Even as a member of the cabinet, she retained her ideals. She declined to rise in the presence of the king or during the singing of the national anthem. In fact, she succeeded in having the anthem barred because it was too martial.

PARTS OF RENO, NEVADA, UNDER 5 FEET WATER

TRUCKEE RIVER SWOLLEN TO HIGHEST STAGE IN YEARS

IN FROM THE PACIFIC
TODAY

Reno, Nev., March 26.—(U.P.)—Parts of Reno lay under five feet of water today as the Truckee river, swollen to its highest stage in years, overflowed its banks.

Although no casualties were reported, damage will amount to many thousands of dollars.

Many residents were forced to move to higher ground.

San Francisco, March 26.—Streams and rivers in California and Nevada today were swelled to the flood stage by heavy rains in the Sierra Nevada and melting snows.

Several towns reported floods, although few suffered heavy damage. Another storm was sweeping in from the Pacific today.

(By United Press)

Rivers of northern California and Nevada which were sent to dangerous stages by torrential rains Saturday and Sunday, either were at a standstill or slowly receding today.

The danger of a flood of serious proportions was believed temporarily past but a new threat was seen in weather forecasts for the district.

Probability of rain was held out in government weather predictions for all of northern California and Nevada during the next 24 hours.

If further heavy rain fall is added to the rains which were recorded in some sections over the week end, a serious flood may result.

Half a dozen rivers of northern California and Nevada and their tributaries swept out of their banks, inundating thousands of acres of farm land and threatening low lying districts of a number of cities and towns.

The high waters have done many thousands of dollars of property damage but as yet no loss of life has been reported. In most cases families in districts that were inundated had sufficient warning to flee before the water rose.

Citizens of Reno kept an apprehensive eye on the Big Boca dam, 20 miles from the city. The reservoir back of the dam was filled and water was rushing over the top of the concrete structure in tremendous volume.

The flood swept a section of eastern Reno and many residences were vacated hurriedly. Basements of several stores were filled with water and the Idlewood Park, near the center of the city, was inundated.

Slightly lower stages were reported today in the Sacramento and American rivers. The American river reached its highest stage in 20 years yesterday while at Knights Landing the Sacramento river passed the 16.3 foot level.

Water from two to eight feet deep covered the main street of North Sacramento. There was no danger to the city of Sacramento.

Scores of families driven from their homes in North Sacramento were quartered in the national guard armory and the Masonic temple.

Smethport, Pa., March 26.—(U.P.)—Mike Ross, 63, the father of 16 children, has confessed that he killed his 43-year-old wife "because she was too young."

Ross believed his wife, who bore six of his children, was unfaithful, his confession indicated.

WESTERN GEORGIA IN THE PATH OF A SEVERE STORM

Atlanta, Ga., March 26.—(U.P.)—Western Georgia, from the mountains to the sea, was in the path of a severe electric storm last night. Lightning took one life, and injured a boy and girl. Half damaged crops in some areas.

YOUTH IS CRUSHED, SLIDES FROM STONE MOUNTAIN SUNDAY

Stone Mountain, Ga., March 26.—(U.P.)—L. C. Langford, 18, lost his footing on Stone Mountain Sunday, sliding down the face of the granite mountain until swept over the 800 foot precipice. Identification of the youth was made possible through papers in his pocket.

Hundreds who were at the foot of the mountain, viewing the completed carving of Robert E. Lee on the confederate memorial, witnessed the tragedy.

BAFFLING MURDER MYSTERY EVIDENT AT OLATHE, KAS.

DR. OLIVER NETHERTON SUS-
PECTED OF SLAYING
HIS WIFE

SHE WAS SHOT DOWN FEBRUARY
24 IN BASEMENT OF THEIR HOME

Olathe, Kans., March 26.—(U.P.)—Developments in the case of Dr. Oliver Netherton, suspected of murdering his wife, have made of it one of the most baffling murder mysteries in the history of Kansas police officials.

Mrs. Netherton was shot down February 24 in the basement of her home. Arrest of her husband followed.

The middle aged physician steadfastly maintained his innocence. He offered as a possible solution of the crime the theory that a tramp, bent on revenge because Mrs. Netherton refused him food, shot and killed his wife.

No tramp, however, was seen by neighbors in the vicinity of the Netherton home and circumstantial evidence pointed to the doctor as the slayer. Tomorrow lawyers will present arguments in the preliminary hearing before Justice W. J. Lemon. Taking of testimony was completed Saturday. Decision as to whether Dr. Netherton will be bound over to district court for trial on a charge of murder or set free will come soon after close of arguments.

Certain phases of the case have challenged the imagination of the shrewdest investigators of the state. All the elements of a soul-stirring detective story are contained therein. Joseph A. Brady, chief of defense counsel, made the disclosure that Mrs. Netherton was the sixth member of her family to meet death at the hands of unknown assassins.

This series of six murders, he said, occurred over a period of forty-five years and because authorities have failed to find a single plausible motive for Dr. Netherton wanting to rid himself of his wife, Brady was prepared to connect the crimes with a curse that has dwelt in Mrs. Netherton's family.

In substantiation of the theory that mysterious forces are plotting to wipe out the household, it was recalled that two strangers had inquired the way to the physician's farm on the edge of Olathe the night before the murder. Another time a mysterious stranger sought the residence of Mrs. Awilda Molleson, wealthy and eccentric mother of Mrs. Netherton. In both instances it was said the inquiring strangers failed to call.

Defense counsel said if the physician, now retired and engaged in fruit farming, is put to trial he will introduce a document, now yellowed with age, which will offer a motive and possible explanation of the six slayings. This document, he said, was in possession of Mrs. Bertha Strahl, 65-year-old cousin of Mrs. Netherton.

Dr. Netherton and his wife were well liked by Olathe citizens, it was brought out in testimony offered at his preliminary hearing. The couple was pictured as well-to-do, home-loving and happily married.

Supporting his claim that his wife's blood doesn't rest on his hands, witnesses testified that Dr. Netherton was in Olathe at the hour the crime was committed. His wife's body was found by him upon his return home.

Fear now was felt that the curse, if any exists, may be visited upon the 8-year-old daughter of the dead woman in the same manner in which it has befallen other members of Mrs. Netherton's line.

SEVERAL HUNDRED STRONG ARE AT ST. PAUL MEETING

ST. PAUL MEN WANT TO RUN
McALLISTER AS MAYOR ON STICKERS

BEFORE THE CONVENTION ENDS
WORD IS EXPECTED FROM SHIPSTEAD

By JACK F. HIERTZ

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
St. Paul, March 26.—Farmer-laborites are holding the limelight today in both Minnesota and St. Paul politics. They are here several hundred strong to select a state farmer-labor party ticket, while St. Paul delegates are considering the running of their candidate, Frank E. McAllister as a sticker candidate for the St. Paul mayoralty. McAllister was defeated in the primaries here two weeks ago.

The state meeting will continue through Tuesday. It was called to order today by A. C. Welch, Glencoe, president, Minnesota Farmer-Labor association. Credentials, platform, nominations and other committees were chosen by congressional district caucuses, and a recess taken until late this afternoon when there will be a general discussion of the state political situation.

The committees were instructed to report Tuesday.

Before the convention ends some word is expected from Sen. Henrik Shipstead as to whether he intends to seek re-election this year as the candidate of the farmer-labor party which elected him in 1922. The assumption is that he will again enter the ranks of the farmer-laborites, although there is some indication that he may try for the republican senatorial nomination, or run as an independent.

Floyd Olson, Hennepin county attorney, is the party's choice for governor. He ran in 1924 against Governor Christianson. While Olson has declared he did not desire to enter the race this year, it is believed enough pressure could be brought to cause him to change his mind.

If, however, Olson flatly declines, Thomas Vollom, Erskine; Knud Weffald, former 9th district congressman or Alderman John Peterson, Minneapolis, probably will be endorsed. Weffald has filed for the farmer-labor nomination for congressman again in this district, but it is believed he will withdraw this filing if endorsed for governor.

The state platform will probably deal largely with the Cochran-Nelson affair, which it will attempt to charge resulted from a lack of vigilance on the part of the state administration. The outcome of the economy program of Gov. Christianson also will come in for a lashing, while the Nicaraguan situation, farm relief, waterways development, Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway will form the material for other platform planks.

Wednesday there will be a conference relative to organization of farmer-labor parties in 12 other states. This may develop into a third party movement, if either republicans or democrats endorse presidential material unfavorable to the measurements of the farmer-laborite group.

The Herbert Hoover line-up so decisively defeated by backers of Frank O. Lowden for president in the Minnesota republican state convention Saturday still have hopes that the Minnesotans will come through for Hoover. It is figured that after initial ballots at the national convention, Hoover will show enough strength to force the withdrawal of Lowden and the release of delegates pledged to him. Also it is pointed out that Hoover only has to get 60 more votes before the convention in June to clinch his nomination.

It was at first thought that Fritz August Loose, another well known pilot, had accompanied Koehl and Von Huenefeld.

So secret was the start of the flight that it was hours before the fliers' destination was revealed.

Knowledge that officials at Baldonnel airdrome had made preparations for the Bremen's reception, and Mrs. Koehl's statement to the United Press that her husband was headed for Baldonnel, were the first indications that they actually had departed for Ireland and, hopefully, New York.

SIX FARMERS OFFER BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS TO SAVE NEIGHBOR

When it became known in East Bay Lake township that Walter Pfalzgraff, farmer there, was seriously ill at the St. Joseph's hospital and blood transfusions would be necessary, six neighboring farmers yesterday offered to give blood transfusions.

Two of the six were in the same blood grouping with the sick man and willingly consented to give the transfusions. Mr. Pfalzgraff received his second blood transfusion this afternoon.

MRS. COOLIDGE'S MOTHER REPORTED TO BE DYING

MRS. LEMIRA GOODHUE STRICK- EN AT NORTHAMPTON, MASS.

THIRD TIME IN FEW MONTHS MRS. COOLIDGE SUMMONED TO HER BEDSIDE

Washington, March 26.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Coolidge received word today that her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, is in a dying condition at Northampton, Mass. The first lady prepared to leave at 2 P. M. for Mrs. Goodhue's bedside.

It will be the third time in a few months that Mrs. Coolidge has visited her mother since the latter was taken ill.

Northampton, Mass., March 26.—Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, 78, mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, has suffered another relapse and is reported to be in a critical condition.

Mrs. Goodhue who has been in Dickinson hospital several months as a result of influenza, was in a "very serious" condition last night, and although she showed slight improvement this morning, physicians were keeping a close watch over her.

Dr. Justin Hayes, the attending physician, described Mrs. Goodhue's condition as "very poor" when he left the hospital at 11 A. M.

"Mrs. Goodhue is a very sick woman and her present condition is extremely critical," the doctor said.

Mrs. Coolidge was expected in Northampton late tonight for her third visit to her mother's bedside.

MRS. NINA BANG ONCE OF DANISH CABINET, DIES

62-YEAR-OLD WOMAN SERVED AS MINISTER OF EDU- CATION

HELD PORTFOLIO IN THE SOCIAL DEMOCRAT GOVERNMENT 1924-1926

Copenhagen, March 26.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Nina Bang, 62, the only woman ever to be a member of the Danish cabinet, died Sunday. She was minister of education in the socialist-democratic government between 1924 and 1926.

Nina Bang was born in Copenhagen in October, 1866. At the age of 28 she obtained a degree in history and a year later was married to Dr. Gustav Bang, writer on economics. He died 13 years ago.

Mrs. Bang became a member of the socialist party in her youth and took an interest in governmental affairs. From 1913 to 1917 she was a member of the Copenhagen city council. A year later she was elected to the senate, and in 1924 was appointed minister of education. She held that office until December, 1926, when the Stauning cabinet resigned.

Even as a member of the cabinet she retained her ideals. She declined to rise in the presence of the king or during the singing of the national anthem. In fact, she succeeded in having the anthem barred because it was too martial.

PARTS OF RENO, NEVADA, UNDER 5 FEET WATER

TRUCKEE RIVER SWOLLEN TO HIGHEST STAGE IN YEARS

STORM IS REPORTED SWEEPING IN FROM THE PACIFIC TODAY

Reno, Nev., March 26.—(U.P.)—Parts of Reno lay under five feet of water today as the Truckee river, swollen to its highest stage in years, overflowed its banks.

Although no casualties were reported, damage will amount to many thousands of dollars.

Many residents were forced to move to higher ground.

San Francisco, March 26.—Streams and rivers in California and Nevada today were swelled to the flood stage by heavy rains in the Sierra Nevada and melting snows.

Several towns reported floods, although few suffered heavy damage. Another storm was sweeping in from the Pacific today.

(By United Press)

Rivers of northern California and Nevada which were sent to dangerous stages by torrential rains Saturday and Sunday, either were at a standstill or slowly receding today.

The danger of a flood of serious proportions was believed temporarily past but a new threat was seen in weather forecasts for the district.

Probability of rain was held out in government weather predictions for all of northern California and Nevada during the next 24 hours.

If further heavy rain fall is added to the rains which were record-breaking in some sections over the week end, a serious flood may result.

Half a dozen rivers of northern California and Nevada and their tributaries swept out of their banks, inundating thousands of acres of farm land and threatening low lying districts of a number of cities and towns.

The high waters have done many thousands of dollars of property damage but as yet no loss of life has been reported. In most cases families in districts that were inundated had sufficient warning to flee before the water rose.

Citizens of Reno kept an apprehensive eye on the Big Boca dam, 20 miles from the city. The reservoir back of the dam was filled and water was rushing over the top of the concrete structure in tremendous volume.

The flood swept a section of eastern Reno and many residences were vacated hurriedly. Basements of several houses were filled with water and the Idlewood Park, near the center of the city, was inundated.

Slightly lower stages were reported today in the Sacramento and American rivers. The American river reached its highest stage in 20 years yesterday while at Knights Landing the Sacramento river passed the 16.3 foot level.

Water from two to eight feet deep covered the main street of North Sacramento. There was no danger to the city of Sacramento.

Scores of families driven from their homes in North Sacramento were quartered in the national guard armory and the Masonic temple.

Smethport, Pa., March 26.—(U.P.)—Mike Ross, 63, the father of 16 children, has confessed that he killed his 43-year-old wife "because she was too young."

Ross believed his wife, who bore six of his children, was unfaithful, his confession indicated.

WESTERN GEORGIA IN THE PATH OF A SEVERE STORM

YOUTH IS CRUSHED, SLIDES FROM STONE MOUNTAIN SUNDAY

Stone Mountain, Ga., March 26.—(U.P.)—L. C. Langford, 18, lost his footing on Stone Mountain Sunday, sliding down the face of the granite mountain until swept over the 800 foot precipice. Identification of the youth was made possible through papers in his pocket.

Hundreds who were at the foot of the mountain, viewing the completed carving of Robert E. Lee on the confederate memorial, witnessed the tragedy.

BAFFLING MURDER MYSTERY EVIDENT AT OLATHE, KAS.

DR. OLIVER NETHERTON SUS- PECTED OF SLAYING HIS WIFE

SHE WAS SHOT DOWN FEBRUARY 24 IN BASEMENT OF THEIR HOME

Olathe, Kans., March 26.—(U.P.)—Developments in the case of Dr. Oliver Netherton, suspected of murdering his wife, have made of it one of the most baffling murder mysteries in the history of Kansas police officials.

Mrs. Netherton was shot down February 24 in the basement of her home. Arrest of her husband followed.

The middle aged physician steadfastly maintained his innocence. He offered as a possible solution of the crime the theory that a tramp, bent on revenge because Mrs. Netherton refused him food, shot and killed his wife.

No tramp, however, was seen by neighbors in the vicinity of the Netherton home and circumstantial evidence pointed to the doctor as the slayer. Tomorrow lawyers will present arguments in the preliminary hearing before Justice W. J. Lemon. Taking of testimony was completed Saturday. Decision as to whether Dr. Netherton will be bound over to district court for trial on a charge of murder or set free will come soon after close of arguments.

Certain phases of the case have challenged the imagination of the shrewdest investigators of the state. All the elements of a soul-stirring detective story are contained therein. Joseph A. Brady, chief of defense counsel, made the disclosure that Mrs. Netherton was the sixth member of her family to meet death at the hands of unknown assassins.

This series of six murders, he said, occurred over a period of forty-five years and because authorities have failed to find a single plausible motive for Dr. Netherton wanting to rid himself of his wife, Brady was prepared to connect the crimes with a curse that has dwelt in Mrs. Netherton's family.

In substantiation of the theory that mysterious forces are plotting to wipe out the household, it was recalled that two strangers had inquired the way to the physician's farm on the edge of Olathe the night before the murder. Another time a mysterious stranger sought the residence of Mrs. Awilda Molleson, wealthy and eccentric mother of Mrs. Netherton. In both instances it was said the inquiring strangers failed to call.

Defense counsel said if the physician, now retired and engaged in fruit farming, is put to trial he will introduce a document, now yellowed with age, which will offer a motive and possible explanation of the six slayings. This document, he said, was in possession of Mrs. Bertha Strahl, 65-year-old cousin of Mrs. Netherton.

Dr. Netherton and his wife were well liked by Olathe citizens. It was brought out in testimony offered at his preliminary hearing. The couple was pictured as well-to-do, home-loving and happily married.

Supporting his claim that his wife's blood doesn't rest on his hands, witnesses testified that Dr. Netherton was in Olathe at the hour the crime was committed. His wife's body was found by him upon his return home.

Fear now was felt that the curse, if any exists, may be visited upon the 8-year-old daughter of the dead woman in the same manner in which it has befallen other members of Mrs. Netherton's line.

SEVERAL HUNDRED STRONG ARE AT ST. PAUL MEETING

ST. PAUL MEN WANT TO RUN MCALLISTER AS MAYOR ON STICKERS

BEFORE THE CONVENTION ENDS WORD IS EXPECTED FROM SHIPSTEAD

By JACK F. HIERTZ
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, March 26.—Farmer-laborites are holding the limelight today in both Minnesota and St. Paul politics. They are here several hundred strong to select a state farmer-labor party ticket, while St. Paul delegates are considering the running of their candidate, Frank E. McAllister as a sticker candidate for the St. Paul mayoralty. McAllister was defeated in the primaries here two weeks ago.

The state meeting will continue through Tuesday. It was called to order today by A. C. Welch, Glencoe, president, Minnesota Farmer-Labor association. Credentials, platform, nominations and other committees were chosen by congressional district caucuses, and a recess taken until late this afternoon when there will be a general discussion of the state political situation.

The committees were instructed to report Tuesday.

Before the convention ends some word is expected from Sen. Henrik Shipstead as to whether he intends to seek re-election this year as the candidate of the farmer-labor party which elected him in 1922. The assumption is that he will again enter the ranks of the farmer-laborites, although there is some indication that he may try for the republican senatorial nomination, or run as an independent.

Floyd Olson, Hennepin county attorney, is the party's choice for governor. He ran in 1924 against Governor Christianson. While Olson has declared he did not desire to enter the race this year, it is believed enough pressure could be brought to cause him to change his mind.

If, however, Olson flatly declines, Thomas Vollom, Erskine; Knud Weinfeld, former 9th district congressman or Alderman John Peterson, Minneapolis, probably will be endorsed. Weinfeld has filed for the farmer-labor nomination for congressmen again in this district, but it is believed he will withdraw this filing if endorsed for governor.

The state platform will probably deal largely with the Cochran-Nelson affair, which it will attempt to charge resulted from a lack of vigilance on the part of the state administration. The outcome of the economy program of Gov. Christianson also will come in for a lashing, while the Nicaraguan situation, farm relief, waterways development, Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway will form the material for other platform planks.

Wednesday there will be a conference relative to organization of farmer-labor parties in 12 other states. This may develop into a third party movement, if either republicans or democrats endorse presidential material unfavorable to the measurements of the farmer-laborite group.

The Herbert Hoover line-up so decisively defeated by backers of Frank O. Lowden for president in the Minnesota republican state convention Saturday still have hopes that the Minnesotans will come through for Hoover. It is figured that after initial ballots at the national convention, Hoover will show enough strength to force the withdrawal of Lowden and the release of delegates pledged to him. Also it is pointed out that Hoover only has to get 60 more votes before the convention in June to clinch his nomination.

BRAINERD
25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

March 26, 1903

Miss Lottie White is laid up with a rather severe run of grippe.

The following marriage licenses have been issued by Clerk of Court W. A. M. Johnstone, Edward Sevine and Anna Lewis; Ingebrig Bjornas and Mary Olson.

Lieut. J. M. Haffner, elected second lieutenant at a recent meeting of the members of Company F, has received his commission from headquarters and has been ordered to take charge of the Company, Captain Nelson being relieved.

On Saturday night while attending a meeting of the I. O. G. T. in the Columbian block, Miss Christina Olson was robbed of $16, the money having doubtless been taken by some pickpocket. Of course there was not the slightest idea that any one would be around a temperance meeting who would risk peoples' clothing, but the black sheep of traditional fame was there.

Miss Olson hung her coat in the ante-room to the hall and left her purse in one of the pockets. When the entertainment was over and after she discovered the loss, the members of the order raised a purse of $9 and gave it to the young lady.

Many changes have been made in the telephone lines and office and the business has so increased that there are now six young ladies at the switch board.

"SEWING FOR THE HEATHEN"

To Be Presented at Congregational Missionary Tea Wednesday Afternoon

By request the comedy, "Sewing for the Heathen," will be repeated at the Congregational Missionary tea Wednesday afternoon. This farce has caused much amusement because of the cleverness of the lines and the costumes worn by the ladies taking part.

The "green" maid who would like to serve "winny-worst" sandwiches, the rich old lady who quietly helps her but throws the sewing society into a turmoil, the peacemaker, the hostess with her eagle eye on the workers, the "chesty" president of the circle, dear, deaf grandma who misunderstands, the bride, the spinster, the suffragist whose husband "sews the buttons onto himself"—all are cleverly portrayed in humorous situations.

In addition to the comedy Dr. G. I. Badaux will sing a group of songs. The program begins at 3 o'clock and the public is invited to attend. A small admission fee will be charged.

The ladies of the First Congregational church will hold a rummage sale on Saturday, April 14, in the building on Front street formerly occupied by the Mathiesen shoe store.

BRAINERD
25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

March 26, 1903
Miss Lottie White is laid up with a rather severe run of gripe.

The following marriage licenses have been issued by Clerk of Court W. A. M. Johnstone, Edward Sevine and Anna Lewis; Ingebrig Bjornas and Mary Olson.

Lieut. J. M. Haffner, elected second Lieutenant at a recent meeting of the members of Company F, has received his commission from headquarters and has been ordered to take charge of the Company, Captain Nelson being relieved.

On Saturday night while attending a meeting of the I. O. G. T. in the Columbian block, Miss Christina Olson was robbed of $16, the money having doubtless been taken by some pickpocket. Of course there was not the slightest idea that any one would be around a temperance meeting who would frisk peoples' clothing, but the black sheep of traditional fame was there.

Miss Olson hung her coat in the anteroom to the hall and left her purse in one of the pockets. When the entertainment was over and after she discovered the loss, the members of the order raised a purse of $9 and gave it to the young lady.

Many changes have been made in the telephone lines and office and the business has so increased that there are now six young ladies at the switch board.

"SEWING FOR THE HEATHEN"

To Be Presented at Congregational Missionary Tea Wednesday Afternoon

By request the comedy, "Sewing for the Heathen," will be repeated at the Congregational Missionary tea Wednesday afternoon. This farce has caused much amusement because of the cleverness of the lines and the costumes worn by the ladies taking part.

The "green" maid who would like to serve "winny-worst" sandwiches, the rich old lady who quietly helps her but throws the sewing society into a turmoil, the peacemaker, the hostess with her eagle eye on the workers, the "chesty" president of the circle, dear, deaf grandma who misunderstands the bride, the spinster, the suffragist whose husband "sews the buttons onto himself"—all are cleverly portrayed in humorous situations.

In addition to the comedy Dr. G. I. Badeaux will sing a group of songs. The program begins at 3 o'clock and the public is invited to attend. A small admission fee will be charged.

Rummage Sale

The ladies of the First Congregational church will hold a rummage sale on Saturday, April 14, in the building on Front street formerly occupied by the Mathiesen shoe store.

AT LUM PARK JUNE 15

Farm Bureau Annual Picnic to Attract Farmers from Entire County

The general arrangements committee of the Farm Bureau annual picnic met in the city today and decided on Friday, June 15, as the date of this county wide celebration. The celebration will be held at Lum Park, Brainerd.

The general arrangements committee as named by President George E. Butler of Deerwood, consists of Mike Marea, chairman, of Hartley Lake; John A. Hoffbauer, secretary, Brainerd and John Hughes of Long Lake, with County Agent E. G. Roth acting in an advisory capacity by virtue of his office.

At the meeting today they named these sub-committees: finance committee, Mike Marea, chairman, Harold Olson, Oak Lawn, treasurer and E. G. Roth.

Sports committee: Judge L. B. Kinder, chairman; Dr. John A. Thabes, Jr., Brainerd, and William McCabe, Route 4, Brainerd.

Dance committee: Bert Sabin, chairman, Mission township; Aug. Erickson, Oak Lawn, Star Route, Brainerd; and Attorney C. A. Ryan, Brainerd.

The finance committee will receive bids on concessions for the picnic day, and reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Inquiries may be directed to the secretary, John A. Hoffbauer, Brainerd.

Beauty of Interior Due to Attractive Walls

Unlimited freedom in the use of color and texture prevails in the many and varied types of homes that are being developed in Europe at the present time.

Just as the restraint and simplicity of the American colonial type developed when the country was new, the materials limited, and the workmen without artistic training, and the high by artistic Italian type developed when the merchant princes of Italy were at the height of their power and were commanding the finest material and talents in the world, so the modern European type is developing in a period totally unrestricted by lack of materials and skilled craftsmen.

Even the richest builder of early centuries did not have at his command the opportunities for expression of taste and individuality which are within the reach of the most modest builder of today. The modern home owner need enter no longer to antique precedent or the standardization prevalent in many modern American homes, but may have a home as expressive of his own individual tastes as his clothes are.

Architects of Holland, Austria, Spain and Germany are taking the lead in these new designs for homes. Some of their creations are so extreme in design as to be bizarre, but others are of unusual beauty, and may well be taken as patterns for American homes.

Color and texture in inside and outside walls are the most noteworthy characteristics of many of these modern homes. Ceilings, wall decorations and furniture are often painted in consistent designs either in delicate tints or the brightest colors. Plastic paint which produces both the desired color and texture is frequently used in carrying out these effects. A typical finish with this paint is produced by brushing it on in a thick coat and then patting it gently in a continuous motion across the surface with a paint brush.

Stucco exteriors of modern Europe show the same freedom of use as the painted interiors. A thick, shaggy surface produced by a criss-cross working of the trowel is an often noticed finish which adds to its own beauty an unusual receptivity to light and shade. Deep colors are frequently employed and different—sometimes daring—effects may be obtained by the use of brightly colored brick set in the wall at irregular intervals or by patterns of mosaic or tile, or by half-timbered effects.

This unlimited freedom may easily result in extremes, but if care is exercised to prevent this, homes of surpassing beauty and adaptability to any setting will be the result.

Fireplace Hearth Trip Simplifies Ash Removal

A new type of fireplace ash dump trips a large section of the hearth downward, instantly disposing of all accumulated ashes and dirt. The control mechanism is concealed within the masonry of the fireplace.

The dumping section is 14 by 24 inches in diameter and may be made to match the masonry work of the remainder of the hearth, so that the general appearance is uniform.

The apparatus is very easy to operate, a slight pull on the convenient control handle tripping the dumping section or returning it to place at will. A curved metal shield automatically seals the hearth opening against the escape of sparks, ashes or dust. The device may be installed in any type of fireplace, whether old or new.

Built-in Accessories Modernize the Bathroom

The gleaming whiteness of built-in china bathroom accessories is one of the most effective and pleasant enhancements of the wholesome and attractive cleanliness of the modern bathroom, which plays a large part in the making of the present-day home.

The pleasing qualities of these fixtures, however, are not confined to the bath, since many of them may be appropriately used in the modern kitchen. Towel bars and hooks, soap holders and glass racks find a ready place in the new attractive kitchens now being widely installed in present-day dwellings.

The built-in accessory may be installed in homes already built, although the work is more economically done at the time of construction.

2 AMERICAN GIRL FLIERS START ON TOUR OF EUROPE

Berlin, March 26.—(U.P.)—Miss Mildred Johnson and Miss Esther Warner, American fliers, started today on a tour of Europe in a Lufthansa company airplane.

Their tour will take them to Austria, Italy, and thence to Zurich, Stuttgart and back to Berlin.

The two women came here about ten days ago and had intended to complete part of the Atlantic crossing by airplane. However the North German Lloyd Steamship line refused to permit a take-off from the deck of the Columbus.

TWO ST. PAUL YOUTHS HELD AFTER GUN FIGHT

New Prague, Minn., March 26.—(U.P.)—Two St. Paul youths, Frank Serek and Ray Kloski, are held by police here following a gun battle in an attempt to rob a store early Saturday. They were captured in the Minnesota river bottoms Sunday after they fled from the Day Light store when police fired a dozen shots into it when the robbers were seen at work.

Recluse Is To Be Questioned in Connection with Slaying

East St. Louis, Ill., March 26.—(U.P.)—Charles Heinemann, an 80-year old recluse, is sought by police for questioning in connection with the murder of Frank Hammerle, 55, his friend, whose bound body was found in a cistern Saturday.

Disappearance of the 80-year old suspect coincided with discovery of Hammerle's body, which was found with a bullet hole in his right temple. The head was covered with a gunnysack and the feet were tied with cord.

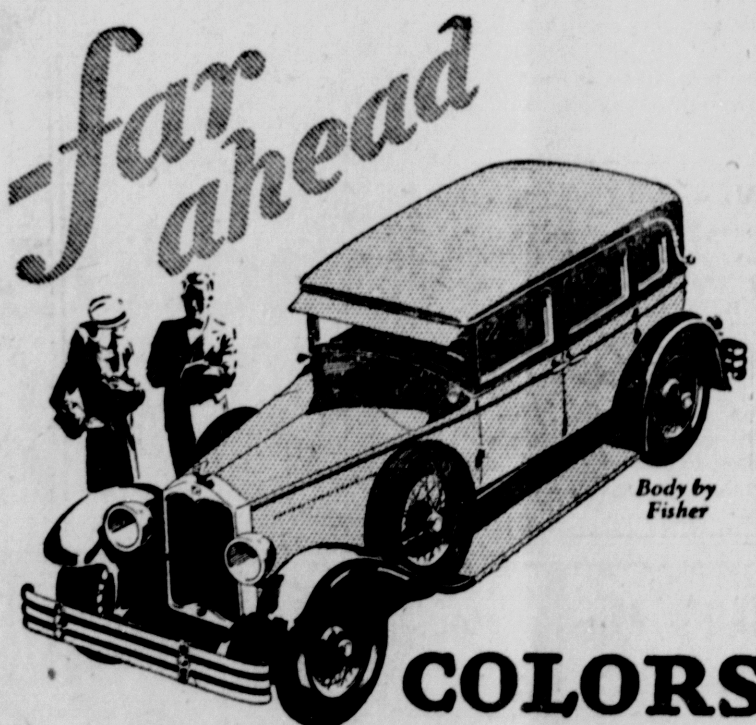

Investigation of Heinemann's home, where Hammerle had lived following the death of the elder man's wife, revealed a rifle of the caliber disclosed by the wound in the slain man's head. Cord similar to that which bound his feet likewise was found.

Motive for the slaying was believed by police to have been robbery.

RESCUED AFTER 16 DAYS ENTOMBMENT

Mexico City, March 26.—(U.P.)—After 16 days entombment in the La Aurora silver mine at Teztlutlan, in which more than 20 miners were killed by an explosion, Jose Ricardo has been rescued, the newspaper Excelsior reported today. Although suffering from exposure and lack of food and water, the miner was expected to leave the hospital in a few days.

Recluse Is To Be Questioned in Connection with Slaying

East St. Louis, Ill., March 26.—(UP)—Charles Heinemann, an 80-year-old recluse, is sought by police for questioning in connection with the murder of Frank Hammerle, 55, his friend, whose bound body was found in a cistern Saturday.

Disappearance of the 80-year-old suspect coincided with discovery of Hammerle's body, which was found with a bullet hole in his right temple. The head was covered with a sunnysack and the feet were tied with cord.

Investigation of Heinemann's home, where Hammerle had lived following the death of the elder man's wife, revealed a rifle of the caliber disclosed by the wound in the slain man's head. Cord similar to that which bound his feet likewise was found.

Motive for the slaying was believed by police to have been robbery.

RESCUED AFTER 16 DAYS ENTOMBMENT

Mexico City, March 26.—(UP)—After 16 days entombment in the La Aurora silver mine at Tezuitlan, in which more than 20 miners were killed by an explosion, Jose Ricardo has been rescued, the newspaper Excelsior reported today. Although suffering from exposure and lack of food and water, the miner was expected to leave the hospital in a few days.

Spring beckons! And Buick owners will greet the season in cars which take first place in rich, alluring beauty. Glowing colors—colors that rival the exquisite hues of the rainbow—colors as distinctive as the fleet, low lines of Buick bodies by Fisher.

Not only in beauty, but in performance, too, Buick leads the way. Its famous Valve-in-Head six-cylinder engine provides the thrilling abilities so highly desired on tempting Spring days.

Visit the Buick showroom and see the most colorful cars Buick has ever produced. Their beauty will captivate you—and a demonstration will make Buick your choice.

WORLD LEADERSHIP

THE genius that wins leadership never rests. By the time others have struggled to heights attained by leaders, the leaders have blazed trails to new accomplishments.

The Maytag Aluminum Washer for five years stood without a rival. Then came the New Maytag, as far in advance of the times as the former Maytag was five years before. The big Maytag factory is now turning out 1400 washers a day.

The unmatched speed and thoroughness which characterized the Maytag of former years has been enhanced by many noteworthy features in the New Maytag. Important among them is a Soft Roller Water Remover which hugs every fold of the clothes. Both the soap and water are extracted evenly—delicate buttons and filmy laces go through unharmed.

SPRING FEVER DIAGNOSED

EVERYBODY had a touch of the spring fever last week when the government thermometer attained an altitude of 60 degrees above zero. Some people wanted to go fishing, others looked longingly at the golf grounds, small boys played marbles and ball, Mother thought of house cleaning. A lot of reminiscent thinking was done along many lines.

We happened to read the current Collier's and there found an article written by Ruth F. Wadsworth, M. D., and she takes up spring fever in a learned fashion and says that "changing our winter habits is something that will have to be left until another season or another era, but we can do a lot toward counteracting their effects in the cultivation of new spring habits."

"Spring has long been blamed for spring fever, rather than winter, because the disease manifests itself only when winter has well passed, although you will often hear people say, on an unseasonably balmy day in January, 'Dear me, I have spring fever already!'"

"The answer is that the cold air of winter is a real respiratory and metabolic stimulus. When it is absent we feel the depression which results from a slowing down of our engines. Eventually we get accustomed to the lack of the cold-air stimulus and our energy-producing processes go along smoothly without. But at first we are unable to carry on comfortably."

"The underlying physical causes of the spring lassitude, then, are:

"A slowing up of our metabolic rate (speed of vital processes), due to the absence of the cold air of winter.

"A low-grade anaemia, which results from a long period of insufficient sun exposure.

"A sluggishness of the liver, which is the natural result of a lot of rich food and a minimum of exercise.

"Poor muscle tone, or 'softness', which also results from the sedentary life led in the winter and the backing up of the food surplus in our muscles."

After we read Dr. Ruth F. Wadsworth's article in full we came to the conclusion that spring fever is a really serious affair. We hope no Dispatch subscribers, advertisers and other friends are laid up by the malady.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA APPRECIATION DAY

GOVERNOR THEODORE CHRISTIANSON urges all residents of Minnesota to participate in a University of Minnesota Appreciation Day, which by his proclamation he has set for May 5. He also approves of the plans to have the University of Minnesota band visit Europe on a good-will tour. His proclamation states:

"For more than 60 years the University of Minnesota has been making a splendid and increasing contribution to the intellectual and cultural life of the state and nation. It has trained many thousands of young men and women for efficient service in agriculture, the professions, and business, has striven nobly to awaken in them a life long thirst for knowledge and an ever present reverence for truth, has furnished them with many an inspired teacher whose words and life they might emulate; and given them culture of mind and character, and ideals of service to humanity."

"Now, therefore, I, Theodore Christianson, governor of the state of Minnesota, do proclaim the first Saturday in May, May 5, 1928, as University Appreciation day, and do appoint Ben W. Palmer, general chairman of a statewide citizens committee to arrange for a celebration of that day on the university campus."

"And inasmuch as a series of concerts abroad by the University of Minnesota Band will promote European good will toward Minnesota and the United States, I do hereby designate that band as a 'Good Will Messenger from Minnesota,' and direct that the proceeds of the foregoing celebration be used to send that band to a tour of Europe, to buy the men uniforms and equipment if necessary, and to devote any surplus for an endowment either for scholarships or student loans to its members to be administered by the university as other trust funds."

"And, I further invite all the people of the state, whether or not graduated of the university, to give their hearty support to such celebration to the end that so eminently fitting a representative of the state be sent abroad, and University Appreciation day be a memorable one in the history of the university and of the state."

LEAST FORTIFIED WITH FACTS

GROVE PATTERSON, writing in his column, "The Ways of the World," claims that by some strange trick of human nature the man who gets most excited by some fancied injustice, the man who runs to his neighbors or the newspapers and complains the bitterest, is usually the one least fortified with the facts. He means well and he is often a good friend because of his useful frankness. But there is seemingly, in that type of man, some connection between his tendency to quick sympathy and his tendency to draw conclusions based on superficial investigation.

STATE "U" SALARIES

THE claim that our university professors are underpaid is disputed by A. J. Peterson, a member of the state budget board. He says the salaries of most of our state officers are limited to $5,000 a year, while more than sixty instructors at our state university receive salaries ranging from $5,500 to $9,000 a year. —Waseca Herald.

THE Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Daily News have respectively exposed the gambling and liquor business of their city. The Tribune published a list of 215 alleged gambling houses with names and addresses of alleged owners, and the Daily News prints names, street addresses and telephone numbers of an alleged alcohol peddling syndicate, doing a big business. After furnishing citizens and police department with such information, something may be done about it.

NEW YORK is to be commended on the way they recognize faithful pedagogues. Miss Jennie Lynch, who has just retired after teaching in the public schools there for 50 years, has been presented with a purse of $1,000.

THE WORLD'S GREAT EVENTS

ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

(By Dodd, Mead & Company.)

Henry of Navarre

A COUNTRY boy—long rather than tall, high of forehead, with a great hooked beak of a nose, a tanned face and wiry frame—came up to Paris, against his mother's will, one day in the latter part of the sixteenth century. He was the penniless Prince Henry of Bearn, son of stupid old Antony of Bourbon, king of Navarre. In coming to Paris he was walking into the very jaws of death.

Catherine de Medici, widow of Henry II, was practically ruler of France in spite of the fact that her weak son, Charles IX sat on the throne. She had four sons. They were all childless. Should they chance to die without direct heirs, the royal line of Valois would end, and the crown must pass, by succession, to their cousin, the king of Navarre. Catherine was an ardent Catholic, as were her sons and her adherents. Navarre, a little subsidiary province near the Spanish frontier of France, was the center of the Huguenot (Protestant) movement. The rulers of Navarre were the chiefs of the Huguenots. Hence, if the king of Navarre should inherit the throne, France would probably become a Huguenot country. So Catherine cast uneasy eyes towards the little kingdom and began to plot measures for averting such a possibility.

Jeanne d'Albret, wife of Antony de Bourbon and mother of young Henry of Navarre, was also doing some plotting, but along wholly different lines. She was one of the noblest, best women in history. Her husband had been a weak, dissipated, thick-headed fellow, and all her hopes were centered in her boy. She accordingly had Henry brought up as a rigid Protestant, sought to turn his mind to high thoughts, to honor and personal rectitude, urged him to outdoor life and exposure to toughen and strengthen him, and confided his military training to the famous Admiral Coligny.

In the midst of this course of training Jeanne was horrified to receive a request from Catherine that Henry visit the gay court at Paris. She well knew that such an invitation amounted to a royal command, and that it could not with impunity be disobeyed. Yet she foresaw the terrible influences a woman like Catherine could exert on her pleasure-loving son. Henry, delighted to be free from such close discipline, hurried to Paris and plunged at once into the dissolute gaiety of the court. Jeanne in vain tried to retain her influence over him by writing him long letters full of advice and of news of his old home. Catherine dreaded the effect of these letters, so she sent Jeanne a pair of poisoned gloves. Jeanne wore them and died.

Every decent influence being thus removed, Henry wallowed deeper daily in the infamies of Catherine's contrivance. He was now king of Navarre, nominal head of the Huguenots, but too steeped in the pleasures of court to give much thought to his responsibilities. To wipe out the Huguenots Catherine arranged the massacre of St. Bartholomew within a week after Henry's marriage to her daughter Margaret. Henry, seeing his life was in danger, renounced Protestantism and became a Catholic. Three years later he escaped from Paris, where he was treated more like a prisoner than a king, and fled to Navarre, where his Huguenot adherents were awaiting him. On the way he stopped long enough to renounce Catholicism and declare himself a faithful Huguenot. For the next few years he indulged in as gay a life as his impoverished little kingdom could afford.

Meantime, on Charles IX's death, his younger brother, Henry III, had come to the throne of France. He was frivolous and weak. The Parisians worshiped the duke of Guise, who openly declared himself a claimant to the throne and who started the League, an organization semi-civil, semi-religious, made up from all classes and devoted to the Guise family. Henry III, to check this rising revolt, had Guise assassinated. The League in fury rose to avenge its leader's death and drove the king out of Paris. The dispossessed monarch joined forces with Henry of Navarre against the League, but was himself assassinated in 1589. This left Henry of Navarre rightful king of France.

Henry boldly laid siege to Paris to enforce his claims. He beat the League's armies at Arques in 1589 and at Ivry in 1590. Henry was tired of warfare and poverty. He wanted to be a king, not a guerilla leader. "So he abjured Protestantism and for the second time declared himself a true Catholic. This removed the last barrier to his success and all France gladly acclaimed him king."

So in 1593 he entered Paris in triumph, apparently in no way abashed at having twice deceived his earlier followers by such ready changes of faith. He drove the Spanish out of France, put down the League, and in 1598, by the edict of Nantes, assured privilege and religious toleration to all Protestants. Under him modern France had its birth. He ruled wisely and for the good of the people.

At the height of his career, May 14, 1610, he was murdered by Ravaillac, a fanatic, his young son, Louis XIII, succeeding him.

LEGION WRESTLING CARD DRAWS A BIG CROWD SATURDAY

BIG BILL BETH DEFEATS OLSON, OF CROOKSTON

JOHNNIE BECK GOES FULL 30
MINUTES WITH FRED
ROSS

FAST PRELIMINARIES, BASIL T.
HEATH OFFICIATES AS REFEREE

The wrestling card of the American Legion post, offered Saturday night for the delectation of fans from Brainerd, Pequot, Hackensack, Pine River and the Iron Range, proved one of the best in years and U. C. T. Auditorium was crowded with customers. A sprinkling of ladies with their escorts added color to the assemblage.

The semi-windup proved to be the biggest event, in a way, for Johnnie Beck, 130-pounder, a man who has held the amateur bantam championship of Iowa and lays claim to the middleweight featherweight title and who gained his schooling under Earl Caddock of Iowa, proved such a tough customer for Fred Ross, 130-pounder of Pequot, that he stayed the full 30 minutes.

Ross slammed on every hold in his category and he is one of the fastest lightweights of the country, but Beck wriggled out. For good measure Ross flopped Beck over his head on the canvas several times, and Beck came back just as quickly and gave Ross the same whirl. Both wrestlers received an ovation when they finished.

Ross made a little talk and said Beck was one of the best he had ever met and hoped to wrestle again. Beck challenged Ross to a finish match. Ross has been doing heavy work in a pulp wood camp, while Beck has kept up light training. Ross was the aggressor throughout most of the match, the Pequot fans imploring him to "do something" and pin down Beck.

The main event, Big Bill Beth of Pequot versus Buck Olson of Crookston, weights respectively 210 and 200 pounds, which the Pequot lumberjack won, proved to be slow in comparison with the Ross-Beck set. Beth's first hold was a wristlock which whittened Olson's paw and forearm. Olson came back with a toe-hold and headlock. Beth snapped on a wristlock. Beth won the first fall in 52 minutes by slamming Olson to the mat with a cradle hold.

The second fall and victory came to Beth in 22 minutes when he clamped on a double wristlock. There was deafening applause from Pequot, Hackensack and Pine River when Referee Basil T. Heath proclaimed Beth the winner.

Announcement was made that Jack Taylor of Canada had challenged the winner and that another wrestling card was to be put forth early in April.

Heath introduced Jack Wallace, welterweight, who said he was on his way to Chicago to fight there next Friday.

Fast work was shown in the preliminaries. Nelson of the south side, Brainerd, won two falls from Leroy Wyatt of the north side. Both put up a game fight. The boys weighed 155 pounds each.

McAllister of Pine River and Orville Evans of the same town, 115 pounders, went the whole route. McAllister got the first fall. Evans scored a fall and McAllister won the final in a minute.

Big Bill Beth showed his interest in furthering the sport by furnishing the stand and mat which were placed in the center of the hall. Dr. L. F. Hawkinson assisted as timekeeper. Beth and Olson wrestled on a 60-40 basis.

Arrangements at the hall were good, ushers quickly seated the fans and the whole police and fire department was represented. Smoking was prohibited by fire laws. Good ventilation was provided. All considered, it pleased the crowd of customers and the Legion is assured of another big attendance when their next card is put on.

PROPOSES ENDING TREATY RELATIONS WITH ROUMANIA

Washington, March 26.—(UP)—A joint resolution proposing termination of treaty relations with Roumania because of her "persecution of racial and religious minorities" was introduced in the house today by Rep. Berger, socialist, Wisconsin.

"The cruelties and brutalities practiced by some of the mongrel nations of Europe, including Roumania, again discloses how foolishly we acted when we poured our life and treasure on European battlefields in order to safeguard and perpetuate the existence of these nations," he said.

NOT GOING TO FINISH IN THE CELLAR THIS YEAR

"IMMEASURABLY STRONGER THAN LAST YEAR," SAYS
CARRIGAN

"MORE PUNCH EVIDENT IN SOX
LINE-UP THIS SEASON"

Following is the third of a series of United Press interviews with major league managers, giving their plans and expectations for the coming season. Today: Bill Carrigan, Boston Red Sox. Tomorrow: Dan Howley, St. Louis Browns.

(Copyright, 1928, by United Press)

Bradenton, Fla., March 26.—The Boston Red Sox are not going to be the football of the American League this season, if Bill Carrigan can help it, and he thinks he can.

The Red Sox manager, recalled from retirement in 1927 to make over the ball club he once piloted to world's championships, has no predilection for optimism when it comes to talking about baseball. But he does maintain that his team is not going to finish in the cellar, as it did last season.

"We are immeasurably stronger than we were last year," Carrigan told the United Press. "There will be more punch in the Red Sox line-up this season."

"Fred Hoffman is a good, steady catcher with plenty of experience. Phil Todd and Russell Rollings can take care of first base in good style. Buddy Myer, Jack Rothrock and Bill Regan may not be the best infield in the world, but they certainly are not the worst in the league."

"Ken Williams is going to strengthen our outfield, where we'll also have Denny Williams, Flagstead and Doug Taft."

Carrigan believes the Red Sox pitching, not highly rated generally, will surprise the experts.

Ed Morris from Mobile and Johnny Wilson of Waterbury are a couple of rookie hurlers who have impressed the Boston manager favorably during spring training.

"I'm depending upon Morris and Wilson for quite a number of victories," said Bill. "These young fellows have shown up well and will do better as they go along."

Carrigan picks the Yankees to win the American League pennant once again.

"I don't think we can win it ourselves," he said with a wry smile, "and we may not make the first division this season, but we will have a hustling, fighting ball club and we certainly do not expect to be last."

When Carrigan took charge of the Red Sox last year, the club was disorganized.

"Most of us are better acquainted now after a year together," he pointed out. "That will help tremendously. It's a young team, with just enough veterans to steady it and help supply a punch."

"We'll go on from where we left off late in the summer, when we were winning ball games, and we'll cause them all a lot of bother."

"The Yankees, Athletics and Senators are going to be tough clubs this year. It's a long season, of course, and a lot of things can happen, but right now it seems to me likely that the Yanks will repeat."

MOORHEAD VICTORS WELCOMED HOME

WON STATE HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TITLE BY DEFEATING EDISON IN FINALS

Moorhead, Minn., March 26.—Welcomed by nearly the entire population, the Moorhead high school basketball team, who won the state championship by defeating Edison of Minneapolis, arrived home Sunday night.

The Spud annexed the state title at Minneapolis Saturday night, beating the Minneapolis team, 29 to 16. In two previous tournaments, the Spudders had not gotten beyond the first round.

Plans are already under way to give the team a rousing send-off when they leave to enter the national tourney at Chicago.

SPORTS THRONE OF TEX RICHARD IS CHALLENGED

MULLEN AND FUGAZY TRYING TO GET NEW YORKER'S
GOAT

BY JOINING FORCES THEY EXPECT TO PUT TEX OUT OF BUSINESS

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 26.—The challenge of Messrs. Mullen and Fugazy to the supremacy of Tex Rickard in the higher flights of cauliflowerism has so disturbed the latter that he is understood to have taken seven puts to get Tex's goat in Chicago, while Humbert J. Fugazy has vainly sought the elusive angora in this city. Their idea that by joining forces they can run Rickard out of business is an example of paramount optimism rather than logic.

As six puts ordinarily constitute Rickard's quota once he has reached any given green, it can be seen that the marquis of Madison Square Garden is sadly upset.

Jim Mullen has been trying for years to get Tex's goat in Chicago, while Humbert J. Fugazy has vainly sought the elusive angora in this city. Their idea that by joining forces they can run Rickard out of business is an example of paramount optimism rather than logic.

As long as Gene Tunney plays ball with him, Tex has nothing to worry about. And as long as the heavyweight champion retains his affection for spot cash money in large quantities, that kind of ball playing is in order.

It undoubtedly would be a good thing for boxing as a sport if Rickard's monopoly could be broken. But boxing as a sport and boxing as a business are two different things. As a business man, Tex continues to outrank the field.

The summoning from Cleveland of Danny Dunn, manager of Johnny Risko, may mean real action in the heavyweight situation today.

Jess McMahon, Rickard's matchmaker, after an earnest long distance telephone talk with his boss, called up a few wrong numbers in Cleveland and finally located Denny, who was instructed to report in New York forthwith.

This may be the golden summons for which half a dozen boxers and their managers have been listening attentively the past few days. It may mean that Johnny Risko is chosen to meet Tunney in July. Then again, it may not.

Dunn may be asked to send Johnny in with Tom Heeney, the rough and ruddy New Zealand blacksmith, in one more elimination bout. It is a likely outcome of the present muddle, but one to which neither Risko nor Heeney looks forward with pleasure. Each would prefer to meet Tunney.

Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney, two others who have filed challenges to meet the heavyweight champion, are improving the none too shining hours by squabbling over the details of a contract which may bring them together in an open air bout this spring.

Jess McMahon has offered them 25 per cent each of the receipts, and each of them is holding out for 27 1/2 per cent. The two Jacks argue as poorly as they fight.

Paulino Uzcudun and George Godfrey, the remaining challengers for the title, likewise are considering a private and probably lucrative quarrel of their own. The Basque, however, is in no hurry to sign the papers with Humbert J. Fugazy.

Even a little present of $8,940, released in his favor by Fugazy, has not sold the wily Spaniard on the idea of binding himself by contract to any other promoter until Tex Rickard has said "No!" nine times in a loud voice and has had Johnny Broderick throw him out of the window.

TAX REDUCTION OF $200,000,000 MAY BE EXPECTED

ARNE SOUMINEN, DETROIT FINN, STILL MAINTAINS TIME LEAD

Grant, N. M., March 26.—A 34-mile trek was ahead of runners in the Pyle cross-country run as they left here today for old Laguna Pueblo.

Arne Souminen, Detroit Finn, still maintained his time lead over the field of 96 runners and walkers. He is more than three hours ahead of his closest rival, Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., youth.

No runners have dropped out of the 3,400 mile race since the caravan left Holbrook, Ariz. The athletes were said to be in perfect condition as a whole. The hospital squad is being used less all the time.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., made the 30.5 miles from Thoreau to here yesterday in 3:49:45 to take lap honors.

Souminen finished second, Payne third, Seth Gonzales, Denver, fourth, Olli Wanttinen, New York fifth, and William Kerr, Minneapolis, sixth.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

The major league ball clubs are heading homeward this week, passing here and there to play exhibition games, but pointing always toward the big day—April 11—when the 1928 pennant races begin.

Nothing has happened during spring training days to destroy the public's conviction that last year's flag winners are this year's best bets.

The New York Yankees have not made a particularly good showing during their exhibition games with National League clubs. The world's champions, on the other hand, were humiliated by the Boston Braves and suffered their third shutout in three seasons at the hands of a rookie pitcher.

"Pennants are not won in Florida," observed Miller Huggins tranquilly, "or at least not the kind we are after. Time enough to win games when the regular playing season starts."

It will be recalled that a couple of winters ago the Brooklyn Robins burnt up the grapefruit circuit, establishing an all-time record for exhibition game victories. After which Uncle Robbie's charges nestled peacefully into the cellar of the National League and refused to be evicted.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, heading back from their Paso Robles encampment, look stronger than they did at this time last year.

Donie Bush apparently got the best of his trade with John McGraw—Vic Aldridge for Burleigh Grimes. Acquiring Grimes, Bush now has an excellent pitching staff, which includes Ray Kremer, Lee Meadows, Carmen Hill, Joe Dawson, Johnny Miljus, Fred Fussell and Edwin Brame.

With a Waner outfield and the addition of "Sparky" Adams at second base, the Pirates are well prepared to live up to the expectations of the fans who pick them to repeat.

What have the league champions to fear?

In the National League, there are the Cardinals and the Giants, the Reds and the Cubs, the Braves, and then the others—the Dodgers and the Phillies. I think. Nothing particularly fearsome about that opposition, although if the Cardinals are not afflicted with all manner of injuries and illness they will make things hot for Pittsburgh right down to the wire.

St. Louis' National League club is stronger than in 1927. The cripples are back in action; a few additions here and there have strengthened the Cardinals where they needed it most. Apparently this is the club the Pirates must beat.

The Giants are weaker than last year. They have lost Hornsby and gained a portly catcher and a bat boy. They have traded Burleigh Grimes away from a none too able pitching staff and gained a hold-out, Vic Aldridge. They have a hole at second base through which even Vic Keen could make a safe hit.

The Cincinnati Reds are better than they were a year ago, and they may make trouble, although they disappointed so badly last season that one cannot reasonably count upon them. The Chicago Cubs have an experimental infield and an overcrowded outfield.

In the American League, the Philadelphia Athletics have been greatly strengthened and may beat out the Yankees if that is possible. The Washington Senators have a gaping hole in center field. Too bad they cannot play George Sisler out there.

As for the remaining five clubs, they are at liberty to battle for fourth place if they care to. Getting any higher is going to take a bit of doing, this season.

LEGION WRESTLING CARD DRAWS A BIG CROWD SATURDAY

BIG BILL BETH DEFEATS OLSON, OF CROOKSTON

JOHNNIE BECK GOES FULL 30
MINUTES WITH FRED
ROSS

FAST PRELIMINARIES, BASIL T.
HEATH OFFICIATES AS
REFEREE

The wrestling card of the American Legion post, offered Saturday night for the delectation of fans from Brainerd, Pequot, Hackensack, Pine River and the Iron Range, proved one of the best in years and U. C. T. Auditorium was crowded with customers. A sprinkling of ladies with their escorts added color to the assemblage.

The semi-windup proved to be the biggest event, in a way, for Johnnie Beck, 130-pounder, a man who has held the amateur bantam championship of Iowa and lays claim to the middleweight featherweight title and who gained his schooling under Earl Caddock of Iowa, proved such a tough customer for Fred Ross, 130-pounder of Pequot, that he stayed the full 30 minutes.

Ross slammed on every hold in his category and he is one of the fastest lightweights of the country, but Beck wriggled out. For good measure Ross flopped Beck over his head on the canvas several times, and Beck came back just as quickly and gave Ross the same whirl. Both wrestlers received an ovation when they finished.

Ross made a little talk and said Beck was one of the best he had ever met and hoped to wrestle again. Beck challenged Ross to a finish match. Ross has been doing heavy work in a pulp wood camp, while Beck has kept up light training. Ross was the aggressor throughout most of the match, the Pequot fans imploring him to "do something" and pin down Beck.

The main event, Big Bill Beth of Pequot versus Buck Olson of Crookston, weights respectively 210 and 200 pounds, which the Pequot lumberjack won, proved to be slow in comparison with the Ross-Beck set. Beth's first hold was a wristlock which whitened Olson's paw and forearm. Olson came back with a toe-hold and headlock. Beth snapped on a wristlock. Beth won the first fall in 52 minutes by slamming Olson to the mat with a cradle hold. The second fall and victory came to Beth in 22 minutes when he clamped on a double wristlock. There was deafening applause from Pequot, Hackensack and Pine River when Referee Basil T. Heath proclaimed Beth the winner.

Announcement was made that Jack Taylor of Canada had challenged the winner and that another wrestling card was to be put forth early in April.

Heath introduced Jack Wallace, welterweight, who said he was on his way to Chicago to fight there next Friday.

Fast work was shown in the preliminaries. Nelson of the south side, Brainerd, won two falls from Leroy Wyett of the north side. Both put up a game fight. The boys weighed 155 pounds each.

McAllister of Pine River and Orville Evans of the same town, 115 pounders, went the whole route. McAllister got the first fall. Evans scored a fall and McAllister won the final in a minute.

Big Bill Beth showed his interest in furthering the sport by furnishing the stand and mat which were placed in the center of the hall. Dr. L. F. Hawkinson assisted as timekeeper. Beth and Olson wrestled on a 60-40 basis.

Arrangements at the hall were good, ushers quickly seated the fans and the whole police and fire department was represented. Smoking was prohibited by fire laws. Good ventilation was provided. All considered, it pleased the crowd of customers and the Legion is assured of another big attendance when their next card is put on.

New York, March 26.—The challenge of Messrs. Mullen and Fugazy to the supremacy of Tex Rickard in the higher flights of cauliflowerism has so disturbed the latter that he is understood to have taken seven puts on the seventh green of his favorite Florida golf course when the news reached him.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Dame Fashion had a good time the other day admiring a very beautiful thin material which seemed quite new to her. It was called "celanese chiffon" and was all in fast colors, with an ability to be washed that made it delightful for spring-time gowns.

There was a golden-tinted piece which was captivating and was especially beautiful over a golden silk slip. Another of darker shade had rich patterns on it of a sort of Pompeian red and it was astonishingly effective when placed over silk slips of varying colors. It would make a genuine chameleon gown, for it looked totally different with red, green or golden slips.

All the pretty chintzes and cretonnes are coming in so fast for summer draperies and to make sun-parlor furniture covers and fresh covers for the pillows whose abundance always gives a look of hospitality. If a pretty girl wearing a gown of that golden celanese chiffon tucked behind her a pillow or two covered with cretonne butterflies and birds and posies, such as Dame Fashion saw this week, she would make a picture that would adorn any magazine cover in the world.

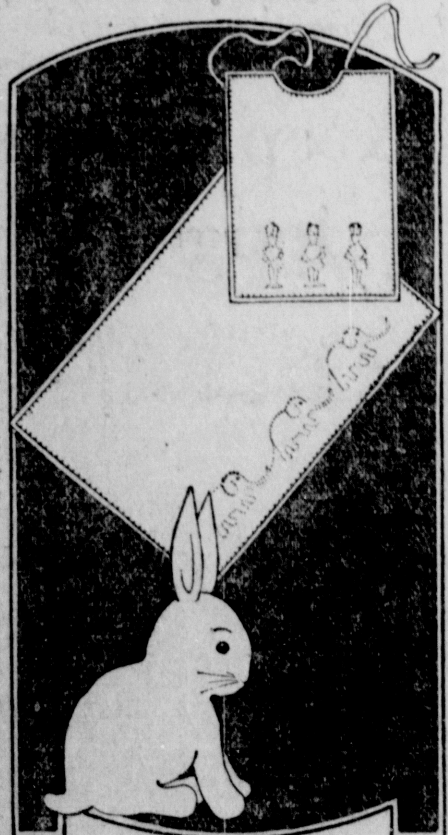

Let us just imagine her sitting there in the sunshine, in some well-warmed sun-parlor, and then let us just pile gifts in her lap. We must give her one of those jeweled compacts, perhaps choosing one with little imitation topazes, to go with her golden gown. She must be given a new pair of gloves for the spring—and what do you think? With more and more brilliant color coming in the gowns, the gloves are growing quieter in their trimming. The newest ones of kid have their adorning in a simple trim in a lighter shade of the same color, with no brilliance of cross stitch and gay insets.

"But tell us, Dame Fashion, would this golden girl have bobbed hair?" Dame Fashion rather inclines to believe she will have a wee, little knot of hair pinned up at the nape of her neck. Perhaps this little jingle may sum up the hair situation:

If you are small and cute and fair
You still may plan to bob your hair;
If you are tall and ready thin
You'd better let hair grow again.
The elder woman has bobbed brow
But girls are buying hairpins now.

Bib and Tray Cloth Are Made of Empty Flour Bag

Three wooden soldiers, three lumbering elephants and a pensive, wistful bunny are the dinner guests of the child who is lucky enough to have this attractive trio of mealtime gifts. The bib and the tray cloth are obviously useful, but so is the stuffed B'r'er Rabbit, who makes the mush and milk slip down unnoticed! All of these are quickly and easily made for his majesty at practically no expense. Three bibles, a tray cover and animal can be made from a single empty flour bag. This bag your baker will probably be glad to sell you for just a few cents. It is swiftly ripped, since chain stitching is used, and the stamping is taken off by larding the linked places or letting them soak in kerosene a few hours and then washing them out in lukewarm water.

Bib, Tray Cloth and Bunny, Made of Flour Bag.

The bibles may be bound with bias tape or button-holed. The tray cloth is button-holed or crocheted. The wooden soldiers are cross-stitched in red, green and blue, while the elephants are worked in outline stitch in whatever color you happen to fancy elephants. The bunny has pink-lined ears, whiskers in outline stitch and shoe buttons for eyes.

One of the advantages of using the flour bags for things for kiddies is that this cloth is extremely durable and can be washed and even boiled any number of times, growing softer and whiter each time.

Vestee, Puffed Cuffs Add to Charm of Gown

Here is a smart frock for the afternoon tea. Featured are the vestee and puffed cuffs of finely tucked georgette. The material is of crepe de chine.

"Be Yourself, Co-Eds," Is Warning From Teacher

"To say, 'Be yourself' seems almost absurd in this overstandardized world," Miss Ethel M. Arnold, assistant of the applied arts, Kansas State Agricultural college, tells her class in dress design. "Our educational system, our homes, even our recreations are each cut by one pattern."

"In matter of dress women are quick to realize that distinctiveness lies in individuality. Clothes must seem to belong to the wearer, they must not just be a part of the body. So you must 'know yourself' in order to 'be yourself' in the matter of dress."

Type is determined by three things—your coloring, your physique and your mental make-up, advised the instructor. Your physical make-up is important in determining your type. Are you tall and slender, short and fat, or small and slender? If slender and tall, 5 feet 8 or more—to you belong grace and dignity. If thin, you can be willowy, if heavy, the stately. There is charm in curved lines and firm rounded flesh. So the tall woman may be, in the choice of her clothes, mannish or tailored, dramatic or dignified, statuesque or redolent, she must never be cute, coy or babyish.

The in-between woman does not have a problem for she may emphasize her personality without fear of interference because of oversize or undersize.

The small woman under 5 feet 3 inches is a definite class. She may be thin or chubby, jolly or quiet, prim or motherly. But whichever she is she must have simplicity and avoid extreme type styles.

The older woman will fall into type as readily as does the younger, but the more mature type will invariably have dignity added to her other characteristics.

Do your friends call you peppy and quick-witted? Be careful that your clothes are not too noisy or too vivid—it will cheapen your type. Don't try to achieve "campish" effects, which belong to the tall, dramatic type. Soft-voiced women with old-fashioned charm and poise are all too few these days—so by all means harp on your own strings. Soft fabrics and subtle colors belong to her. "Whatever the type you lean most toward, the point is to develop the tendency that you have," Miss Arnold begs girls not to steal Pola Negri's stuff. "It is better to 'be yourself,' a good example of your own type, than a poor imitation of some other type that seems more popular. Be curved and jolly if that is your natural type instead of spending your time trying to be flat and flippant. A wood violet is just as pleasing as a garden rose—the emphasis just happens to be on different characteristics."

Victorian Styles Are to Be on New Fashion List

The Victorian motif is exerting a decided influence on the new Paris fashions, says Bettina Bedwell in Liberty.

Victoria reigned in England for more than sixty years, so that Paris modes have a large past from which to choose fashion inspiration of that epoch, from the fichus, puffed sleeves, whaleboned bodices, and bouffant skirts of the forties to the princess frocks and shirtheists of the naughty nineties.

Like most descendants, these new styles produce exactly no feature of their progenitors. They let you know that they have a romantic past without going into details about it. However, it is worth while to watch this Victorian trend, because you are going to see more of it with the spring styles.

BOTTLERS OF CARBONATED BEVERAGES TURN TO NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING FOR NATION-WIDE TRADE PROMOTION DRIVE

The advertising columns of more than 800 newspapers will be used this summer by the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages, the national association of the manufacturers of "soft drinks," in a nation-wide campaign to increase the consumption of their products. The selection of newspapers as the best medium for reaching the homes of America is announced at the National Headquarters of the organization, 726-729 Bond Building, Washington, D. C., by President C. B. Chesterman, of Sioux City, Iowa, and Carl A. Jones, of Bristol, Va., chairman of the Advertising Committee.

C. B. CHESTERMAN

"The selection of newspapers as the medium for our national advertising campaign," President Chesterman said in making the announcement, "is the result of careful consideration. The initial campaign, beginning in May, will use more than 800 newspapers and will cost approximately a quarter-million dollars. It will consist of educational advertising appearing weekly throughout the summer."

May Day has been selected for the opening of the campaign, Mr. Chesterman said, because that also is the date selected by the organization's Advertising Committee for "Bottled Carbonated Beverage Day," which will be celebrated by the manufacturers of "soft drinks" all over the country. These celebrations will include receptions to the public at bottling plants, parades of the combined industry in each city and town, and various other publicity features.

Chairman Jones, of the A. B. C. B. Advertising Committee declared that the decision to concentrate the national advertising in newspapers this year was made with the conviction that they offer the best medium to reach the homes.

CARL A. JONES

"For the last two years," Mr. Jones said, "in various other media, we have carried on a national campaign of advertising designed to tell the public that our products 'are good and good for you.' Now we are ready to drive home the message by using the most powerful engine of advertising to reach everybody, the newspapers."

Defining Sanitary

The word sanitary was among the list of words being discussed in a local schoolroom. Robert, whose father has a thriving dairy business, was eager to express himself. "We will have Robert tell us the meaning of this word," said the teacher. "I know all about sanitary," said the alert eight-year-old. "It means clean milk."

The Modern Philosophy of Business

In earlier times the philosophy of business was summed up in the phrase, "Business is business."

Today men realize that it is something more. According to the modern philosophy, business is service, profit-paying service—for there is nothing sentimental in the modern definition.

The old philosophy was inadequate, one-sided, short-sighted. It ignored the fact that there are two sides to every transaction and that both sides must be benefited in any successful transaction.

It is now recognized that, unless there be in every transaction a spirit of cooperation, a spirit of "live and let live," a well-considered intention to render a service, business cannot endure and prosper.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is thoroughly devoted to these modern principles. How rigidly it adheres to them in word and deed, the public is well able to decide.

The people of the Middle West have good opportunity to judge the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Its products are products that are purchased often—in comparatively small quantities. They are apt to be purchased by the same customers in widely scattered places. If these products were not uniform—if they were to vary in quality—it would be discovered immediately. Each purchase carries the reputation of the Company with it.

More than four thousand Standard Oil Service Stations cover the ten states of the Middle West. They make it possible for the Company to serve its customers directly. Every week it comes into direct contact with the public many thousands of times. These frequent meetings give the people opportunity to judge of its sincerity and ability.

In every community this Company is a local institution. The druggist on the corner and the doctor up the street own its stock. The man in the next block has charge of one of its Service Stations. Owners and workers and customers are friends and neighbors. The people of the Middle West know it intimately.

Millions of purchases and countless contacts over a long period of years have built the reputation for dependability of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). In every community in the Middle West it enjoys a friendship and a confidence that are priceless. Its success has been success in serving.

Black—Middy Blue—Shades of Tan Are Modish Colors

The materials are many—broad-cloth finish fabrics, kasha, tweed mixtures and many stunning novelty silks. Prepare for Easter and all Spring now!

An Easter Message For Men Only

Let those men who wish to voice their enjoyment of the Spring with a whoop and a howl, go about clad in billious greens and reddish tan shoes. The dark attire of the conservative, well dressed man seems to express dignified disapproval of the crude capers of the mob.

In neckwear alone is Mere Man permitted to express his love of color, and that is one of the reasons why we took such pains in the selection of our Easter stock. If neckwear is the only outlet for man's artistic cravings, then the best is none too good—and the best is exactly what you will find in our Men's Department for your Easter choosing.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Dame Fashion had a good time the other day admiring a very beautiful thin material which seemed quite new to her. It was called "celanese chiffon" and was all in fast colors, with an ability to be washed that made it delightful for spring-time gowns.

There was a golden-tinted piece which was captivating and was especially beautiful over a golden silk slip. Another of darker shade had rich patterns on it of a sort of Pompeian red and it was astonishingly effective when placed over silk slips of varying colors. It would make a genuine chameleon gown, for it looked totally different with red, green or golden slips.

All the pretty chintzes and cretonnes are coming in so fast for summer draperies and to make sun-parlor furniture covers and fresh covers for the pillows whose abundance always gives a look of hospitality. If a pretty girl wearing a gown of that golden celanese chiffon tucked behind her a pillow or two covered with cretonne butterflies and birds and posies, such as Dame Fashion saw this week, she would make a picture that would adorn any magazine cover in the world.

Let us just imagine her sitting there in the sunshine, in some well-warmed sun-parlor, and then let us just pile gifts in her lap. We must give her one of those jeweled compacts, perhaps choosing one with little imitation topazes, to go with her golden gown. She must be given a new pair of gloves for the spring—and what do you think? With more and more brilliant color coming in the gloves, the gloves are growing quieter in their trimming. The newest ones of kid have their adorning in a simple trim in a lighter shade of the same color, with no brilliance of cross stitch and gay insets.

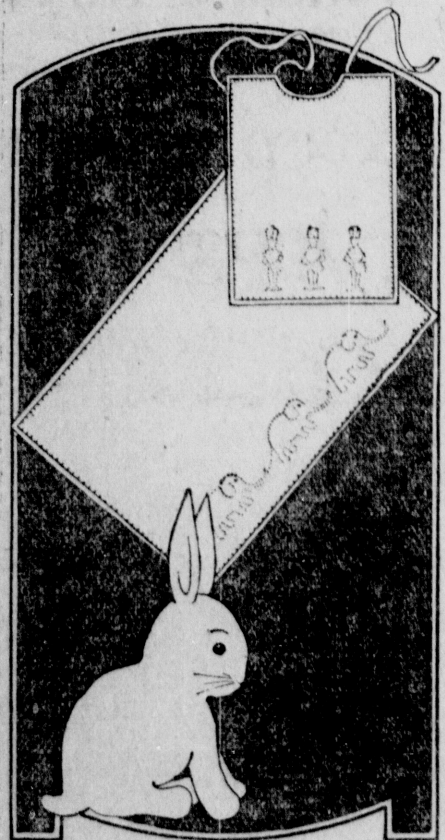

"But tell us, Dame Fashion, would this golden girl have bobbed hair?"

If you are tall and sandy thin

STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEET HERE

Favorable Action on Local Historical Society Invitation Expected by Wednesday

ANNUAL "HISTORIC TOUR"

D. A. R., Lions, Rotarians and Other Civic Groups Join Inviting Society Here

The St. Paul Pioneer Press of Sunday in a front page, two column headed story states that "favorable action is expected Wednesday at a meeting of the Minnesota Historical society's executive council on an invitation extended by the Crow Wing County Historical society to have the state organization's annual summer convention held at Brainerd.

In conjunction with the summer convention the society also will conduct its annual 'historic tour.' Substituting modern automobiles and busses for covered wagons and Red River carts, the touring party will trek over paved and other modern highways along routes of historic importance. Stops at points of historic and scenic interest will be made.

These tours have become an established feature of the summer meetings held each year outside the Twin Cities. Dr. Solon L. Buck, superintendent of the society, said Saturday.

Adopting the regalia of tourists, members of the society and others tour from point to point with programs of papers and addresses at various stops. Dr. Buck said that the public is invited to go on the tour.

S. R. Adair is president of the Crow Wing society which is the youngest of the state's 11 county societies. It was organized last November and has already held several meetings and initiated a definite program of collecting historical records of the county for posterity. It recently voted to become an institutional member of the state society.

Co-operating with it in extending an invitation to the state are the Daughters of the Revolution, the Lions and Rotary clubs and kindred civic groups.

SPRING LOSES HERSELF

Weather Today Dropped to 16 Above; Continued Cold Weather Reported

Dame Spring coyly hid herself today following her brilliant reception last week and the entreaties of her large following requesting continuous appearance fell on deaf ears.

The thermometer went down to 16 above zero last night after three days of warm spring weather when the temperature went up to 62 degrees above zero.

The sudden drop in temperature will benefit the gravel and dirt roads in the county materially. It will prevent damage to the road beds and will give the maintenance men of the county a better opportunity to meet spring and early summer road conditions.

Weather prognosticators see no immediate letup in the sudden, snappy weather.

ANDREW STAFFORD DIES YESTERDAY

Was Influential Farmer at Bay Lake, Lived There For Past 40 Years

WAS TOWN SUPERVISOR

Funeral Will Take Place Wednesday Afternoon From Bay Lake School

The death took place yesterday afternoon at 1:40 o'clock of Andrew Stafford, influential Bay Lake resident at the home of Samuel Allston, Northeast Brainerd, at the age of 74 years.

Mr. Stafford was born in Wayne, Mich., in 1854, coming to Bay Lake township where he homesteaded land in 1887. He worked for many years as a moulder at the Parker and Topping foundry in Brainerd. He was a member of the board of supervisors at Bay Lake for many years.

The funeral will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bay Lake school house. Rev. Wilbur Hunt officiating. Interment will be at the Bay Lake cemetery.

Mr. Stafford leaves his wife and one adopted son, Harold Lee. One son predeceased him.

Interesting Discussions Planned for This Week's Evangelistic Services

In two deeply spiritual and highly interesting sermons, Edgar A. Valiant continued his Christian life mission at the First Baptist church yesterday. In the morning he spoke on "The Greatest Theme." He declared that the greatest theme of human thought is not social betterment, nor economic welfare, nor even universal peace, but redemption through Jesus Christ. In the evening he spoke on "The Gift Divine." He stated that all giving implies two things, a giver and a receiver.

"So with the gift of grace in Jesus Christ, it is not enough that God gives, but we must receive His gift into our hearts and lives," he said.

A full schedule for the week is being planned. There will be no meetings this evening. Tuesday evening will be "Community Night," and Mr. Valiant will speak on "What's Wrong With Brainerd?" Preceding his message, the pastor, H. F. Damon, will give a five minute discussion on the same subject. Wednesday evening will be "Family Night," and he will speak on "The Sin of the Home." Mr. Valiant will give a Bible to the family having the largest number of members present.

He states that throughout his work in the state, he has never had a larger family present in his meetings than the one that received a Bible from him in Brainerd three years ago. Thursday evening will be "Relationship Night," and the subject will be: "Married, Separated, or Divorced." Friday will be "School Night," and his subject will be "Two Lights." The large children's chorus will sing at this service. Saturday will be "Young People's Night," and his subject will be "The Passing of the Ships."

The boys' and girls' meetings will continue each night except Saturday at 7 o'clock. On Friday evening a small gift will be given to each one who has been faithful through the meetings.

CREAM PURIFIER PATENT SOUGHT

St. Elmo Wright, Brainerd, Devises Invention to Eliminate Undesirable Flavors

Fred Carlson, and R. H. Leshar, Pine River, Are Partners With Local Man

A patent is being sought by St. Elmo Wright, Brainerd on a device for taking undesirable flavors out of milk and cream that should prove a great factor to the dairy industry of the United States.

In partners with Mr. Wright are Fred Carlson and R. H. Leshar, of Pine River.

Mr. Wright, buttermaker by profession and farmer near Brainerd, is the originator of the idea. He divulged his idea to Messrs. Carlson and Leshar about 18 months ago and together they have worked out a device that will be on the market in the near future.

Elimination of the use of pumps or fans for forcing air into milk or cream while undergoing the pasteurizing process is the basic principle of the new invention.

It consists of narrow curved cup-shaped metallic pieces which are fastened between the coils of a cream vat. As the coils are revolved in the cooling or the pasteurizing process, the patented cups carry air through the cream on the downward stroke which is released through small holes in the cup. The air that the cups carry on the downward stroke bubbles through the cream as the bottom of the vat is reached and then by a clever arrangement, the cream leaves the cup almost as soon as it strikes the surface on the upstroke. Then another supply of air is taken through the 'cream on the next turn of the coils and the aerating process continued until all objectionable odors are removed.

Experiments which have been made during the past eight months, show that it is possible to raise the score of butter at least one point by the use of the device. That is equal to a raise in price received for butter of about one cent per pound. Butter made from cream which has undergone the aerating process also has much better keeping qualities.

A raise of one cent per pound seems insignificant, but when it is considered that the butter made in the state of Minnesota is over 263,000,000 pounds a year, a tidy sum would be realized if it brought only one cent per pound additional.

The operators of several creameries have given the new patent a try out and all of them are loud in their praise of its practicability.

Windows Give Key to the Character of the Home

CONTEST CROSBY ELECTION RESULTS

Papers Assert That Many Illegal Votes Were Cast on March 13 Election

PAPERS FILED HERE

Claim That Some of the Voters Were Not Citizens and Could Not Read English

Asserting that 100 or more unqualified voters cast ballots at the Crosby village election on March 13, papers were filed at the office of the clerk of the district court Saturday afternoon by I. K. Lewis of the law firm of Lewis, Hunt and Palmer, Duluth, contesting the election of F. H. Kraus, president of the village council and Joseph Sall, trustee.

The contestants of the election are: Earl M. Johnson, Martha M. Rhodes, Emily L. Cameron, Moe C. Aarno, and Fred Richter, all of Crosby.

The papers assert that the judges and clerks wrongfully permitted illegal votes to be cast, that 100 or more persons cast votes who were not legal residents of the village and who were not legally qualified, some of who were not citizens of the United States and that ten of them could not read English.

The papers claim that a checkup of the legal votes will reveal that Charles Yernberg who opposed Kraus and Horace Humphrey who opposed Sall rightfully deserve the offices by majority of votes. Kraus defeated Yernberg by 39 votes for president and Sall defeated Horace Humphrey by 15 votes, according to the election returns of the canvassing board.

No definite time has been set as yet for the hearing of the petition.

Places Confidence In Ability of Birds To Forecast Weather

Summer is not far away when the meadowlarks, bluebirds, robins, blackbirds, and juncos are flying by thousands northward, in the opinion of Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardie who places a great deal of confidence in the ability of migratory birds to foretell weather conditions.

Mr. Cardie stated today that on his travels through the woods already this spring he has noted these summer birds in large numbers. Their arrival in the north at this early date is a prediction of an early summer, Mr. Cardie asserts.

STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEET HERE

Favorable Action on Local Historical Society Invitation Expected by Wednesday

ANNUAL "HISTORIC TOUR"

D. A. R., Lions, Rotarians and Other Civic Groups Join Inviting Society Here

The St. Paul Pioneer Press of Sunday in a front page, two column headed story states that "favorable action is expected Wednesday at a meeting of the Minnesota Historical society's executive council on an invitation extended by the Crow Wing County Historical society to have the state organization's annual summer convention held at Brainerd.

In conjunction with the summer convention the society also will conduct its annual "historic tour." Substituting modern automobiles and busses for covered wagons and Red River carts, the touring party will trek over paved and other modern highways along routes of historic importance. Stops at points of historic and scenic interest will be made.

These tours have become an established feature of the summer meetings held each year outside the Twin Cities. Dr. Solon L. Buck, superintendent of the society, said Saturday.

Adopting the regalia of tourists, members of the society and others tour from point to point with programs of papers and addresses at various stops. Dr. Buck said that the public is invited to go on the tour.

S. R. Adair is president of the Crow Wing society which is the youngest of the state's 11 county societies. It was organized last November and has already held several meetings and initiated a definite program of collecting historical records of the county for posterity. It recently voted to become an institutional member of the state society.

Co-operating with it in extending an invitation to the state are the Daughters of the Revolution, the Lions and Rotary clubs and kindred civic groups.

CHICAGO GANGLAND AND "LITTLE ITALY" STRANGELY QUIET

MEMBERS MINGLE TO PAY TRIBUTE TO "DIAMOND JOE" ESPOSITO

FUNERAL WILL MATCH GRANDEUR OF GANGLAND'S GREATEST OCCASIONS

Chicago, March 26.—(UP)—Chicago's gangland and "Little Italy" were strangely quiet today as their members mingled with the city's leaders to pay tribute to "Diamond Joe" Esposito.

"Diamond Joe" was shot down last week. His funeral today probably will match the grandeur of gangland's greatest funerals.

Esposito rose from a humble immigrant to become a powerful politician. It was generally known he traveled the roads of gangland, but he attained such wealth and popularity as few of gangland's leaders ever knew.

For 20 years he controlled the "bloody nineteenth" ward. He was a candidate for ward committeeman when gangland's guns sent fifty-eight leaden slugs into his body last Wednesday night.

Today there was great doubt in the minds of politicians whether any one man might ever again rule the "bloody nineteenth" as did "Diamond Joe."

Thousands viewed "Diamond Joe," body today as it lay surrounded with high banks of flowers.

2 GERMAN ON MYSTERY FLIGHT, MAY GO TO N. Y.

and Arthur Spindler—left Tempelhof airmail at noon today on a mysterious flight for an unknown destination. It was reported, without confirmation, that they were en route to Baldonnel, Ireland, whence they would attempt a trans-Atlantic flight to New York.

For all aviation circles here knew, the flight might have been just a trial one.

Koehl and Spindler, experienced pilots, announced last week they intended to make a trans-Atlantic flight this spring, stopping at Baldonnel.

They attempted to fly to the United States last year, but their seaplane got as far as Horta, in the Azores. After three unsuccessful attempts to take off from the water, they gave up. The plane was too heavy.

The former crown prince's friend, Von Huenfeld, accompanied the German aviators, who left in the Junkers airplane Bremen.

Mrs. Koehl told the United Press she assumed "the Bremen was on its way to Baldonnel." From there, she said, "it will start on a trans-Atlantic flight to New York."

The flight started in utmost secrecy, even more secret than the start March 13 of the monoplane Endeavor, which carried Captain Walter G. R. Hinchliffe and the Honorable Miss Elsie Mackay presumably to death.

Even Luftwaffe officials were unaware of the start three hours after Koehl and Spindler had left.

Koehl and Spindler have been making trial flights daily supposedly for the purpose of concealing their real start. If they are heading for Baldonnel, they should arrive there about midnight.

Dublin, March 26.—The flying field at Baldonnel was made ready today to receive Hermann Koehl and Arthur Spindler, German fliers, who started from Berlin today presumably for Ireland.

It was believed here the German fliers would take off for New York on their westward trans-Atlantic flight attempt by the end of the week.

A mechanic arrived at Baldonnel in connection with the Germans' flight in the airplane Bremen. Gasoline and other airplane supplies were brought to the field. The ground was specially levelled and rolled to give the best possible take-off.

RIP INTO AFFAIRS OF KU KLUX KLAN

Indianapolis, March 26.—(UP)—Ripping into the affairs of the Ku Klux Klan in Ohio, J. R. Ramsey, former Klan official, in a deposition made here today, charged that the Klan "supported and elected Vic Donahey governor of Ohio in 1924."

Ramsey's testimony was given to Attorney General Arthur Gilliom. Gilliom said he would use the deposition as evidence in his suit to "oust the Klan from Indiana."

CORONER'S JURY INVESTIGATING THE COLLAPSE OF DAM

Los Angeles, March 26.—(UP)—A jury of nine men presided over by Coroner Frank Nance today resumed its investigation into the collapse of St. Francis dam.

JUDGE EDWARD LEES DIES AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul, March 26.—(UP)—Judge Edward Lees, former Minnesota supreme court commissioner, died at his home here Sunday night. He was 63 years old. He was court commissioner from 1918 to 1927, when ill health forced him to resign.

Judge Lees formerly was president of the Minnesota board of law examiners, and for four years a member of the Minnesota board of commissioners on uniform state laws.

McNARY-HAUGEN BILL APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

Washington, March 26.—(UP)—The McNary-Haugen bill was approved this afternoon by a vote of 15 to 6 by the house agriculture committee.

It had previously been reported favorably to the senate. Chairman Haugen of the house committee announced he will seek house consideration after flood control legislation is passed.

As approved, the measure sets up a federal farm board to handle marketing of crop surpluses and provides a loan fund of $400,000,000 to finance operations. The bill authorized co-operatives to form "pools" or financial corporations, with state charters, to borrow from this fund.

President Coolidge opposes the equalization fee but other provisions he criticized in his veto measure last session have been eliminated. The president is empowered to appoint members of the federal farm board directly, instead of being required to elect from a list of eligibles nominated by the farm organizations as provided in the bill last year.

INFURIATED MAN BITES 4 PEOPLE; ONE DIES TODAY

Montreal, March 26.—(UP)—Mrs. Sarah Marcoux, 49, died today after being bitten by an infuriated man during a quarrel in her home on St. Patrick's day.

Albert Shute, 56, a bridge worker, is in jail here charged with assault and wounding. He pleaded self defense and drunkenness when arraigned. Physicians who examined Shute said he had infected teeth, but otherwise was normal.

Three persons, alleged to have been bitten by Shute, are receiving medical treatment.

Abelard Brandant, who went to the aid of Mrs. Marcoux when he heard her cries, is delirious at Alexandria hospital. Last night he attempted to escape. Physicians said he would recover.

Walter Davis, 38, was badly bitten on the hand when he, too, sought to help Mrs. Marcoux.

Prompt medical attention probably saved the life of Miss Elsie Martin, Shute's fourth victim. She was bitten on the hand when she sought to put the infuriated man out of her apartment.

Witnesses said Shute entered Mrs. Marcoux's home while a party was in progress and that he promptly attacked her, biting at anyone who sought to interfere.

Brandant, Davis and Miss Martin grappled with Shute, but said he was so infuriated that they could do nothing with him. A small army of neighbors were attracted by the sound of the struggle and succeeded in subduing Shute.

Liberals Parade and Favor Supervised Election in Nicaragua

Managua, March 26.—(UP)—More than 1,000 liberals paraded the streets of Managua last night, passing the United States legation, in a demonstration in favor of a McCoy electoral law which would enable the United States to supervise the Nicaraguan election.

A mass meeting was held at the city hall where several speeches were made in defense of law. The speakers condemned the opponents of the measure.

Perfect order was maintained by a small number of American marines.

The Nicaraguan liberals are strongly in favor of an American-supervised election because they believe that in a fair election they would win. The conservative faction led by General Chamorro is as strongly opposed to the McCoy measure which became a law by the proclamation of President Diaz, a conservative.

Mongrel Dog Tries to Save Drowning Child

East Marion, L. I.—A mongrel dog did his best to save the life of his little playmate, Frankie Smith, five-year-old son of Polish farmers, near here, but the child, who fell through an ice hole in the ice recently, was drowned before help could reach him.

The little boy and his dog were playing on the frozen inlet leading to the Long Island sound near his home. In romping around the child did not notice a hole that had been cut in the ice for ice spearing. When Frankie fell through the dog started to bark furiously.

The boy's mother, attracted by the barking, looked out on the ice and not seeing her child, began to scream. A number of men who were iceing about a quarter of a mile away, ran to the woman, thinking something was wrong at the house. In excited English she managed to let them know her boy was missing. The eelers went back to the ice and found the little dog struggling to hold the child's clothes in his mouth.

Frankie was pulled out from the freezing water, but by the time Doctor Heath and Doctor Loper arrived from Greenport, eight miles away, the boy was dead.

Finds Most Men Are Irked by Given Names

Berkeley, Calif.—Three men in four have a pet "grudge on" because of their given names, declares Prof. George R. Steward, Jr., of the University of California faculty. He has completed a survey of thousands of Christian names to determine the popularity trend from 1870 to the present time and coupled with it a study of names.

"There are few men who don't wish they had a different first name," Professor Steward says.

The majority of men, however, he says, are satisfied if given the more common names and William and John are as much in use now as 40 years ago.

Since 1880, "Mary," for some unlearned reason, has become less popular than "Elizabeth," which now ran's first. Next to Elizabeth and Mary, in order, are Helen, Dorothy, Marie, Katherine, Louise, Ruth, Eleanor and Evelyn.

Order Establishing Platte Lake, Crow Wing and Morrison Counties, Waterfowl Refuge

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Whereas, a petition or request in writing, asking for the establishment of a waterfowl refuge, according to the provisions of Section 5619, G. S. 1925, as amended by Chapter 389, Laws of 1925, has been received, requesting that the following described waters situate in the counties of Crow Wing and Morrison, State of Minnesota, be included in such refuge, namely:

Beginning at a point in Platte Lake on the line between Section 21, Township 43, N. Range 28, West, and Section 26, Township 43, North, Range 29, West, which is three hundred (300) feet north of the remainder of the corner on the south side of the lake between the above named sections, thence north 54 degrees, 40 minutes west 1540 feet; north 12 degrees 25 minutes east 906 feet; north 88 degrees 40 minutes, east 762 feet; north 79 degrees 19 minutes east 748 feet; north 19 degrees 54 minutes east 2565 feet; north 87 degrees 27 minutes east, 2584 feet; south 4 degrees 43 minutes east 2063 feet; south 28 degrees 12 minutes west 275 feet; south 59 degrees 49 minutes east 827 feet; north 74 degrees 50 minutes east 2276 feet; south 2 degrees 45 minutes west, 2566 feet; north 79 degrees 18 minutes west, 2988 feet; north 3 degrees 5 minutes west, 900 feet; thence in a westerly direction 700 feet to a point which is 300 feet north of the northerly point of the Big Island being Government Lot 5, thence following parallel with the northwest side of said Big Island 300 feet distant therefrom to a point south 87 degrees 55 minutes west 710 feet and south 51 degrees, 40 minutes west, 2634 feet, thence south 41 degrees 18 minutes east, 1190 feet; north 82 degrees east, 2968 feet; south 61 degrees 55 minutes west 2641 feet; north 9 degrees 42 minutes west 957 feet; north 53 degrees 54 minutes west, 2418 feet to the place of beginning, covering 670 acres of open water.

And whereas, notice of public hearing or said petition was issued by said Commissioner providing for a hearing thereon in Crow Wing County Court House at Brainerd, Minnesota, at two o'clock P. M. Monday, March 19, 1928, at which time all persons interested in the granting or refusal of said petition might be heard.

And whereas, notice was posted in five of the most prominent places of said district ten days prior to the date of said hearing and the notice of the hearing advertised in one or more newspapers published in the counties of Crow Wing and Morrison.

And whereas, proof of such posting has heretofore been made and filed with the Commissioner.

And whereas, upon such hearing, it was established that public interest would be best served in establishing a closed season on the taking of waterfowl in said refuge.

And whereas, none of the waters of such area are within the corporate limits of any city or village of this state.

And whereas, none of the waters are owned or operated as a private duck pass.

Now, therefore, said waters above described are hereby constituted a waterfowl refuge and the taking of waterfowl therein is hereby prohibited under penalty of the law.

New York—Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen, Wash., Assassin, will get his second chance at Tommy Loughran's light heavyweight title if he can dispose of Joe Sekyra, Dayton, O., Bohemian, in a scheduled 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Loughran will defend his title against the winner probably May 4.

Mongrel Dog Tries to Save Drowning Child

East Marion, L. I.—A mongrel dog did his best to save the life of his little playmate, Frankie Smith, five-year-old son of Polish farmers, near here, but the child, who fell through an ice hole in the ice recently, was drowned before help could reach him.

The little boy and his dog were playing on the frozen inlet leading to the Long Island sound near his home. In romping around the child did not notice a hole that had been cut in the ice for eel spearing. When Frankie fell through the dog started to bark furiously.

The boy's mother, attracted by the barking, looked out on the ice and, not seeing her child, began to scream. A number of men who were eeling about a quarter of a mile away, ran to the woman, thinking something was wrong at the house. In excited English she managed to let them know her boy was missing. The eelers went back to the ice and found the little dog struggling to hold the child's clothes in his mouth.

Frankie was pulled out of the freezing water, but by the time Doctor Heath and Doctor Loper arrived from Greenport, eight miles away, the boy was dead.

Finds Most Men Are Irlked by Given Names

Berkeley, Calif.—Three men in four have a pet "grouch on" because of their given names, declares Prof. George R. Steward, Jr., of the University of California faculty. He has completed a survey of thousands of Christian names to determine the popularity trend from 1870 to the present time and coupled with it a study of names.

"There are few men who don't wish they had a different first name," Professor Steward says.

The majority of men, however, he says, are satisfied if given the more common names and William and John are as much in use now as 40 years ago.

Since 1890, "Mary," for some unlearned reason, has become less popular than "Elizabeth," which now ranks first. Next to Elizabeth and Mary, in order, are Helen, Dorothy, Marie, Katherine, Louise, Ruth, Eleanor and Evelyn.

Division of Lifetime

Some one has figured out that the average man spends his "three score and ten" years about as follows: In sleep, 23 years, 4 months; at work, 19 years, 8 months; at play, 10 years; eating and drinking, 6 years; dressing and undressing, 2 years; travelling, 4 years; sick and convalescing, 4 years; miscellaneous, 1 year.

Order Establishing Platte Lake, Crow Wing and Morrison Counties, Waterfowl Refuge

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Whereas, a petition or request in writing, asking for the establishment of a waterfowl refuge, according to the provisions of Section 5610, G. S. 1926, as amended by Chapter 850, Laws of 1925, has been received, requesting that the following described waters situated in the county of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, be included in such refuge, namely:

Beginning at a point in Platte Lake on the line between Section 21, Township 43 N., Range 28 West, and Section 36, Township 43 North, Range 28 West, which is three hundred (300) feet north of the meander corner on the south side of the lake between the above land sections, thence north 54 degrees 52 minutes west 1840 feet; north 52 degrees 28 minutes east 906 feet; north 88 degrees 40 minutes east 82 feet; north 79 degrees 19 minutes east 748 feet; north 19 degrees 50 minutes east 2905 feet; north 87 degrees 27 minutes east, 2284 feet; south 4 degrees 48 minutes east 2063 feet; south 28 degrees 17 minutes west 275 feet; south 59 degrees 49 minutes east 827 feet; north 74 degrees 50 minutes east 3276 feet; south 2 degrees 48 minutes west 2966 feet; north 79 degrees 18 minutes west 2988 feet; north 3 degrees 5 minutes west 900 feet; thence in a westerly direction to a point which is 300 feet north of the northerly point of the Big Island, being Government Lot 5, thence following parallel with the northerly side of said Big Island 300 feet distant therefrom to a point south 87 degrees 55 minutes west, 710 feet and south 51 degrees, 40 minutes west, 2334 feet; thence south 41 degrees 18 minutes east, 1490 feet; south 83 degrees east, 2063 feet; south 61 degrees 55 minutes west 2641 feet; north 9 degrees 42 minutes west 957 feet; north 53 degrees 47 minutes west, 2418 feet; to the place of beginning, covering 670 acres of open water.

And whereas, notice of public hearing of said petition was issued by said Commissioner providing for a hearing thereon in Crow Wing County Court House at Brainerd, Minnesota, at two o'clock P. M. Monday, March 19, 1928, at which time all persons interested in the granting or refusal of said petition might be heard.

And whereas, notice was posted in five of the most prominent places of said district ten days prior to the date of said hearing and the notice of the hearing advertised in one or more newspapers published in the counties of Crow Wing and Morrison.

And whereas, proof of such posting has heretofore been made and filed with the Commissioner.

And whereas, upon such hearing, it was established that public interest would be best served in establishing a closed season on the taking of waterfowl in said refuge.

And whereas, none of the waters of such area are within the corporate limits of any city or village of this state.

And whereas, none of the waters are owned or operated as a private duck pond.

Now, therefore, said waters above described are hereby constituted a waterfowl refuge, and the taking of waterfowl therein is hereby prohibited under penalty of the law.

J. F. GOULD, Commissioner of Game and Fish

Minnesota Department of Conservation. Dated at St. Paul, Minnesota, this 22nd day of March, 1928.
